Some Wall Street Brokers
Find Securities Act Not So Bad After All

WASHINGTON — The much-maligned Securities Act has now been in operation approximately one year. And gradually there are being heard lone voices crying in the wilderness of Wall Street that it is not so bad after all.

In fact, it looks as if the Securities Act, despite all the hue and cry against it, might do one great thing for Wall Street — re-establish investment confidence.

For many months, the Securities Act was treated by brokers and bankers as worse than cholera. Only gold mining ventures, beer and whiskey interests, and the Federal Reserve bank were exempted from the Federal Trade Commission to float new issues.

Wall Street planned to starve the Securities Act out, demonstrate to Roosevelt that the rigid regulation by Jim Landis was retarding recovery. The scheme was abetted by the fact that the public was not ready to buy anyway.

But now the boycott seems to be over. Wall Street realizes that the Securities Act has come to stay. Big companies have been coming in with big bond flotations.

The same thing is happening here that happened in England after the passage of its securities act many years ago. The old slogan "Let the Buyer Beware" was changed to "Let the Seller Beware."

In the end Wall Street probably will find the Securities Act as big a blessing as the Federal Reserve Act which it once sought to strangle.

Campaign Debt

Just before Senator Bill Borah departed for his home in Boise, Idaho, he received an interesting suggestion.

Several Democratic Senators proposed that he issue a public call for a fund to pay off the $35,000 campaign debt which the Democratic National Committee owes sandy-haired Joseph P. Kennedy, Chairman of the new Securities Exchange Commission.

Borah, it will be recalled, started such a fund when the Senate's Teapot Dome Committee unearthed the fact that oil-millionaire Harry F. Sinclair had contributed a large sum to the Republican National Committee.

On the basis of this record, Borah's democratic colleagues wanted him to take the initiative in a similar "purging" as they called it — of their party.

The grizzled old orator, however, declined the honor.

"There is plenty to do cleaning up the Republican Party," he told them laughingly, "without taking on yours. Why don't you do it yourselves?"

"We don't dare," was the answer. "The President wouldn't like it."

New Deal Fascism?

Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the left wing British Labor Party, sometimes accused of being revolutionary, visited Washington recently. He conferred with Roosevelt, Johnson, Tugwell, many cabinet leaders.

Returning to England he wrote his impressions, which included the following:

"From the Socialist point of view the whole course of events in the United States is full of danger."

The reason, he explained, was the probability that the NRA and

Bowers Exonerates Standard Oil Driver

George Rhymer, 47, father of nine children, was killed almost instantly and his wife, May, and four of their children suffered minor injuries when the Rhymer Ford sedan and the heavy Standard Oil Co. truck driven by Bert F. Rose, 898 S. Court-st., collided opposite the residence of Mrs. Florence Heffner, one mile west of Stoutsville, Wednesday afternoon.

A broken neck caused Mr. Rhymer's death. The impact of the collision is believed to have caused the injury. Mrs. Rhymer and children, Charles Ray, 14, Katherine, 12, Richard, 10, and Merle, 5, were taken to Berger hospital in the Crites and Van Cleve ambulance, Stoutsville, but were discharged after treatment by Drs. E. R. Austin and Addison Keefe.

Called UNAVOIDABLE Mrs. Heffner, who witnessed the fatal collision, said Rose, who has never had an accident in all the years he has driven for the oil company, was not to blame. Rhymer was driving from the C. G. Good lane. He had been at the Good residence making arrangements to thresh.

Rose was driving toward Circleville.

Coroner C. E. Bowers and Deputy Bryan Custer investigated the crash and at the conclusion of his investigation Dr. Bowers declared the accident was unavoidable and termed Rhymer's death "accidental."

Mr. Rose, who has always had a reputation as a careful driver, was much grieved after the accident.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Mr. Rhymer, who was a Fairfield-co farmer, is survived by his widow, Mrs. May Rhymer, and the following children, Mrs. Clara Good, Stoutsville; Mrs. Marcella Arledge, Orient; Mrs. Viola Hartman, Amanda; Mrs. Pauline Pearce, Farlow; and J. D. Charles Ray, Katherine, Richard and Merle, all at home. A brother and sister also survive.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Stoutsville Lutheran church with Rev. J. M. Wendrich officiating. Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery by H. E. Deenenbaugh and Son.

WHEAT CLIMBS 2 CENTS MORE

All Grain Futures Go To New High on Chicago Market; Drought Reported.

Wheat which has been steadily climbing for the past two weeks gained two cents more today.

The J. W. Eshelman and Son Milling Co., which provides market reports for The Herald, reported its price offered to farmers today 90 cents, the first time it has reached that mark this year.

Continued hot and dry weather in most parts of the grain belt brought active buying and pushed grain futures up to new highs on the movement during the forenoon dealings.

The market was again called upon to absorb heavily realizing and there was fairly heavy hedging, especially in corn, but the selling was well taken and prices displayed a strong under-tone around the best levels of the day.

The weather map showed scattered showers in parts of Illinois and Iowa and little of consequence elsewhere. High temperatures continued although cooler weather was reported in parts of Canada.

At mid-session wheat improved 1-1/8 to 1-3/8c, corn 3-8 to 7-6c, oats 1-4 to 1-3c and rye 1-3 to 1-3-1/4c.

Estimated carlot receipts: wheat 1-4; corn 325 and oats 224.

EXPECT STATEMENT OF MAJ. BRAUGHT

Relief Chief to Speak Relative To Restoration of Relief Here.

A statement on Pickaway-co's relief situation was to be issued today by Major E. O. Braught, executive director of the state relief commission, but at press-time Thursday, the contents of the statement had not been made known.

The statement has been expected for some time, relative to the possible restoration of federal and state relief to Pickaway-co and the approval of Howard Irwin as relief director here.

The relief commission is expected to give its approval to Braught's recommendations for returning the county to its former status. Federal and state relief funds were withdrawn from the county July 1.

MISS MAY, 82, DIES IN WEST

Miss Rose O. May, aged 82, sister of the late Ira L. May, passed away Tuesday evening at her home in Berkeley, Cal., a telegram received here today disclosed.

Her death came only five days after her brother's. She was the last of her family.

Miss May had been seriously ill for four months, heart trouble causing her death.

It is believed the funeral and burial will take place in California.

Rose was driving toward Circleville.

Coroner C. E. Bowers and Deputy Bryan Custer investigated the crash and at the conclusion of his investigation Dr. Bowers declared the accident was unavoidable and termed Rhymer's death "accidental."

Mr. Rose, who has always had a reputation as a careful driver, was much grieved after the accident.

END OF WEST COAST STRIKE NEARER TODAY

Johnson Takes Role of Mediator in Reaching Union Agreement

BUSINESS RESUMES

Food, Gasoline Ban Lifted; Traction Active

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(INS.)—Calling off of San Francisco's general strike seemed imminent today.

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator who has taken over the job of federal mediator in the crisis, declared after a lengthy conference with labor leaders that he was given the impression they would recommend without delay that the 122,000 sympathetic strikers return to their jobs.

The conference lasted until after midnight. Those who talked with Johnson included Edward Vandenberg, chairman of the general strike committee, and Michael Casey, national president of the International Teamsters union.

All of the 177 unions involved in the widespread walkout in sympathy with the dock strikers would have to individually ratify any recommendation of the general strike committee. Such ratification would be a perfunctory proceeding as far as a majority of these unions are concerned.

Already this morning there were indications on all sides that the general strike was drawing toward a speedy conclusion. Broad smiles came back to the faces of the 1-200,000 residents of the San Francisco bay district as conditions headed toward normalcy.

The city's pulse quickened noticeably. Street cars were running freely. Restaurants were reopened. Hotels livened up and withdrew police and detectives from the main entrances. Trucks carrying food rolled into the city. Meat markets opened and housewives stocked up on fresh meat. Gasoline stations within the city limits were again operating and as a result motor car traffic increased tremendously.

Newspapers hit the streets with big black headlines announcing: "General Strike Collapses; Food and Gas Ban Lifted."

The merchants' committee of San Francisco published advertisements headed: "Business as Usual."

SKY GAZERS MAY SEE AIR ARMADA

Possibility that Circleville would get a glimpse of the ten Alaska-bound Martin bombing planes Thursday afternoon was expressed today when it was learned that the armada had left Washington en route to Dayton.

The planes, a part of the U. S. Army Air Corps, are going to Alaska on a reconnaissance flight where the 1935 fleet maneuvers will also be held.

It was expected that the armada would reach this section sometime during the middle of the afternoon.

Union Field In Turmoil, Ask Troops

National Guard Observer Ordered There Before Troops Are Sent In.

KENTON, July 19.—Sheriff Wilbur Mitchell, declaring that the rioting in the strike of 400 onion weeder in the fertile Scioto marshlands was beyond control of his force of special deputy sheriffs, today requested that Governor George White send state militia to the area.

Mitchell, who previously had expressed belief that he could maintain order with his force of 50 deputies, reversed his stand and decided to ask the governor for troops as sporadic rioting broke out through the 17,000 acre region.

FOUR BADLY HURT

Four persons were seriously hurt and many others—at least a score—suffered minor injuries as strikers and pickets clashed. The pickets are attempting to stop all traffic into the marshlands, the largest onion growing fields in the world.

Meanwhile, the strike spread forcibly to the Hog Creek marshes, also near Kenton. Three hundred workers there were forced to lay down their garden tools as a mob of more than 400 strikers and sympathizers from the Scioto marshlands area threatened them.

COLUMBUS, July 19.—Brig. Gen. Ludwig Connolly, an Ohio national guard observer will be sent to the strike-torn Scioto marshlands immediately to determine whether use of state militiamen are necessary to quell rioting there. Governor George White indicated today.

When Sheriff Wilbur Mitchell, in charge of the 17,000-acre onion fields called, asking for troops, the governor instructed him to communicate with Adj. Gen. Frank Henderson, who is at the summer camp of the Ohio National Guard at Camp Perry, O.

WOMAN KILLS CRUEL MATE

Ties Finger To Gun Trigger In Trying to Prove Death Was Suicide.

URBANA, July 19.—Mrs. Blanche Sagers 40-year-old alleged murderess, who calmly arranged the "suicide" of her wife-beating husband, Clarence, 39, was held in county jail here today facing a possible murder charge.

Ohio's woman prosecutor, Grace Fern Heck, announced that the woman had confessed to the crime.

Mrs. Sagers according to the woman prosecutor, defended her action by saying "my husband got what he deserved."

The husband was found dead on a pile of neatly arranged sacks in a truck in the barn on the Sagers farm, near here. He had been shot in the temple. A rifle was fixed to the floor of the barn with a string tied to the trigger and Sagers' finger.

ROSS-CO STARTS CANAL CAMPAIGN

Funds Needed so Junior Chamber of Commerce Accepts Collection Task.

Chillicothe Junior Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to collect $500, Ross-co's share in organizing 18 counties in the Scioto valley into a Scioto-Sandusky rivers conservancy district.

Alan Jordan, executive secretary of the Ohio Valley Flood Control Congress, visited Chillicothe this week and prompted the chamber's action. Pickaway-co is included in this district, but no definite action has been taken here as yet.

Jordan estimates that the preliminary expense in organizing the 18 counties will be about $4,000.

The Chillicothe Junior Chamber agreed to take on the work of raising this money and securing the signatures to petitions as a major project to start immediately. Before a conservancy district may function, it must be approved by the common pleas judges in the district. As a result, petitions must be filed in common pleas court specifying the type of work the district is undertaking.

"Red" Threat On Coast Smashed

"Wrecking Crew," Police Raid Known Communistic Headquarters; Furniture, Literature Destroyed; "Through In San Francisco," Says Police Chief.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—More communists and other radicals had bad headaches in San Francisco today.

Continuing their spectacular raids, squads of police and mysterious anti-radical citizen "wrecking crews" smashed four more asserted radical headquarters and struck again at two previously invaded.

The technique was the same—a quick dash by the motorized "vigilantes" of the strike era, flying clubs and fists, fleeing radicals, smashed furniture—headquarters wrecked.

What the police and the citizen "wrecking crews" left, disorganized mobs went in and finished. They left nothing but shambles.

Two men were arrested and one was reported slugged and kidnapped by the unofficial raiders. The police gave scant credence to the kidnapping reports. They also said they had no idea who the unofficial raiders were.

The first point of attack was a "Communist college" where a fierce riot took place.

These raiders struck in rapid succession at three other places, using hatchets to demolish furniture, fixtures and pictures. Literature and placards were burned. Heads were cracked with clubs.

While police were diligently trying to trace this "wrecking crew," about 25 men in four cars drove quietly to the headquarters of the industrial workers of the world.

"Let's go!" one of the motorists shouted.

They went in as the occupants fled out a rear door.

They left in forty-five minutes. But they had been busy meanwhile smashing a piano, phonograph, chairs, tables, desks, windows and doors.

Meanwhile police appeared at a building where a Communists' meeting was reported under way. The officers took their positions at two doors, but overlooked a third out of which the occupants of the building fled. The place, however, was immediately completely and fiercely wrecked. Benches were even driven through the walls.

NOT REOPENED

Captain J. J. O'Meara announced that none of the wrecked places would be allowed to reopen and that anybody found in them would be arrested.

"The Communist party is through in San Francisco," he said. "The organization can't face such adverse sentiment."

While the raids were taking place, police, district attorney, courts, the army and immigration officials were dealing with 500 men and women already under arrest and charged with being dangerous radicals.

Expected to Reveal Findings Late This Afternoon; Ends 3-Day Session.

A three-day session of the special grand jury, investigating 22 cases, was to terminate this afternoon.

The session lasted longer than Prosecuting Attorney Ray W. Davis anticipated, as it was first believed that the work of the grand jury could be completed in two days.

Two of the most important cases studied by the jurors involved last week-end's two fatal traffic accidents — Harold Southworth, Detroit, and Lester Coey, Colerain-twp., Ross-co., drivers of the "death-dealing" autos, are being held in jail pending the report of the grand jury.

Fifty-two witnesses were examined by Prosecutor Davis and the grand jurors during the two and one-half day session. It was the largest list of witnesses to appear before a grand jury for sometime.

The list follows: W. S. Davis, Festus Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lutz, Stanley Beckett, George Grove, Dave Ebert, Henry Morris, Mary Belle Lewis, Leon Taylor, William McCrady, Roy McQuade, Mrs. Herbert Gregg, Mrs. Ida Neff, Frank Arledge, George Davis, Robert Funk.

Harold Rummel, Norman Coleman, George Melvin, Roy Eblin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, David Adkins, Elmer Merriman.

BOY, 2, GAINING

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 19.—The condition of Robert Connor, 21 months old, was declared today at the White Planes hospital to be "favorable."

"Bobby," found in the woods near his home at Hartsdale, after having been missing for five days, is steadily gaining strength. He probably will be home within ten days, hospital authorities said.

An official bulletin issued at the hospital said that the child's temperature was 100. It stated that the youngster is being fed skimmed milk and a patented baby food.

45-CENT RATE OFFERED CITY BY PIPE FIRM

'Dads' Meet Friday to Confer; Expect to Vote Next Wednesday

SOME READY NOW

Officials of Four Other Cities at Session

City council, Wednesday evening, favorably received an offer of the Universal Pipe Line Co., Columbus, to furnish 45-cent gas to Circleville, and decided to meet Friday evening as a committee of the whole to discuss the proposition.

Last evening's session was adjourned at 10:15 p. m. until next Wednesday at 8 p. m. when a vote will be taken on the ordinance.

The proposal as submitted by W. H. Phipps, president of the company, is the same as that accepted by Portsmouth last week, city council there passing an ordinance on July 11 incorporating all the features offered Circleville, including the same rates of 30 cents per thousand cubic feet delivered to the corporation limits or 45 cents delivered to the consumer.

MANY OFFICIALS HERE

Officials from Portsmouth, Wexford, Jackson and Chillicothe, cities which are also considering the offer, were present at last evening's meeting and declared that they were favorably impressed with the proposal.

Several of the local councilmen were so impressed that they expressed their willingness to vote on the ordinance at last night's meeting.

According to Phipps, who was director of Ohio commerce under former Governor Harry L. Davis, the company represents moneyed interests and large independent gas-producers who control 700,000 acres of productive fields. The company has negotiated with the cities of Akron, Canton and Massillon in the northern part of the state and expects to secure agreements by ordinance from each of them, favorable resolutions having already been passed in each case, Phipps said.

The company is considering laying its pipe line up the Scioto valley to serve Chillicothe, Circleville and perhaps Jackson. It is endeavoring to secure the rights of the Ohio and Erie canal for the laying of its pipe and expects to get this privilege except for small proportions where the lines will have to go around the canal land.

10-YEAR CONTRACT

The company would offer a 10-year contract, giving Circleville a further 10-year option at the same rates. The consumer's rate would be 45 cents per thousand for the first thousand cubic feet and 45 cents for each additional thousand.

At present, both Chillicothe and Circleville are paying up Ohio

Farm Leaders Discuss Problems Here July 24

Farm bureau leaders of this county have been invited to attend a district meeting of the organization, July 24, at the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau home, where legislative and taxation matters will be discussed. The meeting is one of a series in the state sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, with headquarters in Columbus.

It's time that farmers and other people in Ohio rise up and demand that unprecedented conditions be recognized, and that a program of taxation be adopted to meet the actual needs of our schools and of the governmental expenses which are necessary to uphold a decent standard of living, states Perry L. Green, president, in urging local farm bureau leaders to attend the meeting. The following are some of the questions to be considered:

1. On how much less money can your schools operate efficiently?
2. What present expenditures in the operation of county and local government do you recommend to be eliminated to produce further economy? What consolidation of present offices do you recommend?
3. What amount of your present tax expenditures are now used for debt retirement for both schools and roads?
4. Could the county welfare activities be co-ordinated under one management so as to produce more effective economies of operation?
5. Is there valid opposition to an income tax or an increase in utility excise taxes?
6. Do you favor passage of a proposed highway amendment with the limit on the amount of tax that can be levied on gasoline, or should we leave it open so that sufficient revenue can be raised and not allow it to be possible to come back to real estate for any high maintenance or costs?

7. What long time program do you recommend in connection with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration?

8. How will proposed reapportionment for representation in the House of the state legislature affect your county, and what means will you use to oppose such an amendment? It would rob many rural counties of exclusive representation.

J. O. Eddy, trustee of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, will lead the discussion at the meeting.

OHIO REAL ESTATE MEN EXPLAIN LAW OF DELINQUENT TAX

An active campaign is being conducted by the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards to acquaint taxpayers with the provisions of the Whittemore bill concerning the payment of delinquent taxes in installments with remission of penalties. The association feels that a great many taxpayers are unaware of the opportunity which they have of availing themselves of the provisions of this act which was passed this year by the Second Special Session of the Legislature.

The bill, amended Senate Bill No. 3, provides that, if 1933 taxes and assessments be paid, taxes and assessments which were delinquent in 1932 and prior thereto may be paid without penalties or interest on penalties. Two methods of payment are possible. First, payment may be made in a lump sum amounting to the principal due, penalties and interest on penalties being remitted. Second, the taxpayer may elect to pay the amount due in installments. If the latter course is chosen, collections are made in six annual installments, ten per cent each year for five years, the remaining fifty per cent to be paid the sixth year. No penalty is charged, but interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, payable annually, is collected. The installments are due at the time prescribed for the payment of the second half taxes. This covers both real property taxes and assessments, and personal and classified property taxes.

The association is urging all taxpayers to take immediate advantage of this opportunity to wipe out delinquencies without penalty. The time remaining to make use of the provisions of the act is extremely short, inasmuch as the bill expires September first of this year. It is thought very unlikely that such a chance will soon again be available.

New German Stamps

and said that her husband had committed suicide.

In Sagers' pocket was found a clipping from a newspaper which told of his arrest and conviction on a charge of assaulting his wife last Saturday. He was fined $10 and costs at the time and it marked the fourth time he had been brought into court on wife-beating charges.

A note, saying that he was worried over financial troubles and domestic difficulties and that he could not "see my way out."

The "suicide" note, according to Prosecutor Heck, was the woman's one mistake in arranging her husband's death.

Becoming suspicious of the handwriting, Miss Heck called in E. J. Yantis and H. C. Robinson, of the Ohio criminal identification bureau. After questioning the woman, they obtained an admission to the crime, they alleged.

According to the alleged confession, Mrs. Sagers arose early yesterday morning and went to the barn where she found her husband sleeping. She arranged the rifle and the string, she is said to have related, and then shot her husband. There was only one bullet in the gun but it was effective.

Returned to the house, Mrs. Sagers prepared feed and water for the chickens in the barnyard and fed them. She then sat down and ate her breakfast and waited for an hour before she called the undertaker.

HIT-RUN CANOEIST

NEWTON, Mass.—The latest in "hit-and-run" stories has Charles River as the locale with a "hit-and-run canoeist" ramming a canoe occupied by a girl and her escort who received an unlooked-for bath in the river when their craft was overturned. Metropolitan police brought the drenched couple ashore but the canoeist responsible for their plight made his getaway.

CHARDON—A war on pests has been declared by Geauga-co Boys' 4 H clubs. It marks the second year the boys have accepted a challenge to see who can kill the most insects and animal pests in the county.

The contest is to end July 31. Last year's record was 533 woodchucks, 825 rats, 1197 mice, and 218 ground moles. Any method of capture is allowed, except that club members are forbidden to use guns unless they have parental consent.

Reichswehr Looms as Power After Nazi Purging

General von Seeckt
General von Blomberg
Versailles treaty "dummy tanks"

Out of the chaotic blackness following the Nazi "blood bath" ordered by Chancellor Adolf Hitler, looms the Reichswehr, whose 100,000 gray uniformed, goose-stepping soldiers have become the real power of the reich, pushing aside the storm trooper legions to hold in their hands the future destiny of the nation. Monarchist, anti-Republican and loyal to their ex-chief, Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, aged president of Germany, the Reichswehr is composed of privates enlisted for 12 years, and officers for 25 years, because the allied nations during the Versailles peace conference wished to prevent growth of Germany's armed forces. Led by General von Seeckt, fiery, unemotional Junker, the Reichswehr has become the most efficient and powerful professional army in the world, despite its complete lack of heavy arms, tanks, airplanes. General Blomberg is present chief, holding the portfolio of war minister in Hitler's cabinet.

usual" and informed readers that "street cars are running; motor car traffic is unimpaired and thousands of people are traveling in a normal manner." The "kick" line of the ads asked: "Why not shop as usual?"

Department stores, which were almost empty the first three days of this week, began doing almost a normal business this morning. Vigilance of the police in the downtown district relaxed. The city began to look like its old self.

Over on San Francisco's famous waterfront the national guardsmen—4,500 strong and fully equipped—remained on duty, however. They guarded a "front" of almost five miles. Their activities were directed by Major General David P. Barrows from "GHQ" aboard the river steamer "Fort Sutter," docked near the Ferry building.

Heads of the steamship companies announced that the port of San Francisco is to be opened; that the great liners are coming back to this port instead of being routed from Los Angeles.

TO CLEAR DOCKS
Thousands of stevedores were to be assigned at once to clear the docks and be prepared to load and unload ships.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco was taking a leading part in the movement to bring the general strike to an end. He said:

"In the presence of a general strike nothing can be arbitrated. That strike must be ended."

General Johnson likewise declared the calling off of the general strike was the first thing that had to be done before any material progress toward peace can be made. "When that is accomplished we can get somewhere," asserted Johnson.

The blunt speaking Johnson declared the public is not in sympathy with a general strike, adding:

"A general strike is Soviet government. An American community like San Francisco simply will not stand that."

COMMUNISTS ROUTED

Anti-communistic sentiment grew in the community. San Francisco's mysterious anti-radical wrecking crew swung into action again and smashed four more Communist headquarters.

The wrecking crew, a step ahead of the police, dashed into the various Communist headquarters and smashed furniture to bits. They invaded Ruthberger hall, the "Communist College" and wrecked the interior of the place. The police came later and arrested two men and confiscated a bayonet and a cavalry saber found in the hall.

In rapid fashion the raiders descended upon the North Beach Workers' center, the Chinese Workers' center and a school on Powell-st. They used hatchets and clubs to demolish furniture and fixtures. They scattered radical literature to the four winds.

Prior to these raids approximately 300 men had been arrested in raids on Communist gathering places and at open air meetings. These men were brought before Municipal Judges George J. Steiger and Sylvain J. Lazarus.

Squads of immigration inspectors and army intelligence officers were on hand ready to take over all cases which might come under their jurisdiction.

The judges overruled protests of George Anderson, who acted as attorney for the men and who demanded separate jury trials for them. All the defendants were held in $1,000 cash bail or $2,000 bond.

45-Cent Rate Offered City By Pipe Firm

The bonds and giving the city ownership of the system.

The third option gives the city the right to sell the distributing system to the Universal at a price no less than the cost of acquisition by the city.

The entire contract is flexible and apparently contains nothing which would tie up the city in a financial tangle, it is said. Acquisition of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. property would not result in additional taxation, according to statements made Wednesday night.

Phipps introduced his subject last night by identifying himself as an attorney from Paulding, O. He was a state oil inspector in 1908 and later was appointed by President William Howard Taft as auditor-general of the Philippine Islands where he served until 1914. He resumed his law practice until 1921 when he was made state director of commerce under Governor Harry Davis. He explained that the Universal Pipe Line Company is merely a promoting group, backed by financiers and large independent producers anxious to find an outlet for gas. As soon as cities are lined up as clients, the money will be forthcoming with which to carry out the company's promises, Phipps said.

MIGHT LEASE SYSTEM

Under the second option the city might lease the distributing system to the Universal company which would deliver gas to the consumer at 45 cents and maintain the distribution lines and collect all bills. In this case the city would be given a return on its lease, this return in time retiring

METHODISTS

Reports were made by various church and Sunday school officers and by presidents of the various organizations within the church.

During the social hour, which ended when ice cream and cake were served, music was provided by Mrs. John Bragg, who sang and played her piano-accompanist, by Elsie Radcliffe, baritone, and by Mrs. James P. Moffit and Glen Gelb. The vocal numbers were accompanied by Hunter Chambers.

Following are the officers of the church elected at the conference:

TRUSTEES
N. A. Warner, Dr. G. D. Phillips, O. S. Howard, L. L. Pontius, H. B. Colwell, Alfred Lee, W. J. Marion, Meeker Terwilliger, and F. E. Barnhill, president.

Committees on young people's work, membership and evangelism, music, finance, benevolence, foreign missions, hospitals and homes, auditing, church records, directors of social life religious education, parsonage, pulpit supply, pastoral relation, nomination committee, trier of appeals, director of religious education and pulpit decorations were also appointed.

pany's proposition.

He said council there became interested in the possibilities of the present offer due to the fact that it is now involved in a gas case, as is Circleville. The Portsmouth Gas Co. buys its gas from West Virginia Fuel Company from West Virginia, paying 37 cents for it at the gate. Under the proposed plan, Portsmouth will condemn the property of the Portsmouth Gas Co. and acquire it, then sub-let it to the Universal company.

Dickey pointed out that Portsmouth doesn't obligate itself for a thing until the gas is piped to it, neither does it obligate itself to add anything to the burden of the taxpayer. Instead, it sees an opportunity to offer a lower gas rate.

The solicitor said he believed the cities of Portsmouth, Chillicothe and Circleville had something in common in that they were all striving for lower gas rates. He believed, he said, that some united action taken at this time would be most beneficial to all.

MAYOR BARRETT CONVINCED

Mayor Walter S. Barrett of Chillicothe, was also introduced and said he was convinced that the Universal company's offer was a good proposition. He said he felt that Chillicothe city council would pass the ordinance next week.

Mayor Isaac N. Davies of Jackson and B. F. Wills, Wellston insurance agent, also made short talks in which they lauded the offer.

Other out-of-town representatives present last night included Jack Hayes, Oscar Anthony and James Keating, councilmen; H. H. Brown, president of council; Cec Cox, assistant service director, Mayor Barrett and Thomas Hughes, all of Chillicothe; Mayor Davies, City Solicitor Benson L. Owens and Simon David of Jackson, and B. F. Wills of Wellston.

Several Circleville councilmen are expected to attend the meeting of Chillicothe council next Monday evening, when a vote will be taken on the offer presented by the Universal Pipe Line Company.

Horse Thief Jailed

SHERIDAN, Wyo.—Revival of the long-neglected industry of the old West led to the sentencing of O. P. McKinley, southern Montana rancher, to from three-and-a-half to 15 years in the Wyoming penitentiary. McKinley and L. A. Jordan, his partner, were convicted of stealing 15 head of horses. Jordan was paroled.

A Live Tip To FAT MEN

There's probably a thousand physicians in the United States who would recommend the "little daily dose of Kruschen" to men who display a too prominent abdomen.

If these fat men would only lose their prejudice for 4 weeks and in the meantime take just one jar of Kruschen Salts they would be so overwhelmingly surprised at the healthy loss in weight that most of them would shout—

"Why have I been carrying all this excess baggage around with me all these years?"

Ed. Jordan way down in Levee, Arizona, wanted to lose 50 pounds of fat and hired Kruschen to do it for him—he took 3 jars and got rid of 53 pounds and writes a letter recommending Kruschen to all fat men.

One jar lasts 4 weeks—get it at Hamilton & Ryan's or any drug-store in the world—take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—keeps blood cool in summer.—Ad.

Too Much Loafing

SECRETARY of the Interior Ickes, who also is public works administrator, wants an atmosphere of industriousness to pervade his departments. In a recent talk to the 4,000 employees he warned them that they must take their feet off of desks and get to work if they wanted to retain their jobs.

How were they using their time? He advised them that he recently had wandered "through some of the corridors." His "heart was warmed" by the scenes of activity noted in some of the divisions, he said.

"I passed others," he continued, "where employees were reading papers, and still others where feet were on the desks. In some offices, the socially inclined were conversing in corners. I had a check made of the cafeteria, and again found a small minority apparently having breakfast on government time."

The secretary is to be commended for trying to see that the employees earn their money. He did not complain, though, that important work had been seriously delayed by loafing employees.

Maybe there are so many of the latter there is not enough work to keep them busy all of the time they are supposed to be on the job.

Wonder if the ex-kaiser has an extra room at Doorn the use of which he could spare Hitler?

The Auto Peril

A TOTAL of 11,780 persons have been killed by motor vehicles so far this year in the United States.

More shocking is the fact that these figures represent an increase of 2,000 motor fatalities as compared with the same period last year.

What is the reason for this jump? The most plausible explanation probably is the increased number of automobiles in use as result of improved business conditions. Sales of new cars this year have been running high. Old cars that had been in storage have been hauled out and again placed in commission, and the purchase of used cars has shown a big increase.

The automobile peril has reached a point in seriousness that makes it one of the most important public problems of today. Practically no headway, it appears, is being achieved in solving it.

What the slaughter will be a few years hence when normal prosperity may have returned is a question to excite alarm and to challenge the most thoughtful minds of the nation.

Something must be done. All concede this. But what to do, none seems able to say.

"How did that get on my coat?"

THE LONE WOLF SON

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER XXVIII

"He may have done just what he said he would, at that—maybe he had got off light because Miss Crozier's pa was on hand to meet her when the plane hit, and she got him to say a good word for Maurice."

"But how can we be sure M. Crozier—"

"Stands to reason he'd be there to greet his daughter and finance Mamma's emeralds through 'the Customs.'"

Lanyard opened a frank stare, and the detective quaked with deep enjoyment.

"The idea bein' that I wasn't supposed to be wise to that angle?" The bronze mask bent crinkling over the flame that Crane was setting to his pipe. "I guess, at that, maybe I've got no business to; but it's like I told you, hard to stop an old mule from brownin' on any loose feed he comes across."

"The more I see of you, my friend, the less wonder I feel when it appears that you know everything."

"Not everything," Crane with judicial gravity confessed. "Take this crumb I squith, now—he's still got me guessin'. All I know about him is he's phony. And one thing you don't know yet is that the old girl yanked that green ice out of the purser's box just before the plane sailed and gave it to Miss Fenno to take in and declare—thereby shippin' one over on the mob that's tailin' the junk."

"And one is happy to infer, from the tenor of this telegram, that the ruse was successful."

The detective shook his head gravely. "The returns ain't all in yet. All we know so far is that the stole several lengths' lead while the rest of the jocks were nappin'; but that doesn't mean the race is won yet; there's a dark horse in it, or I ain't track-wise."

"Isquith?"

"Maybe, or maybe it's the Main Squeeze that gives Freddie his orders—Fish-eye," Crane elucidated, reading Lanyard's blank look.

"Leonard Schwartzstein—they've got other names for him in New York, but Fish-eye's the politest."

"I remember reading about him in newspaper correspondence from America," Lanyard said with the slowness of a man whose mind is troubled. "You have reason to believe he may be concerned in this affair?"

"If he isn't, you can bet me your life he will be, soon as he finds out about it. If this mob wins, and Mrs. Crozier loses and Fish-eye ain't in on the cut, he's liable to act up mean and ask all concerned some pretty pointed questions. But there are so many on board that are close to him, it's the last thing likely that Fish-eye hasn't had a fin in the business from the start-off. Not that it was my idea, when I drifted in here, to tell you anything to upset you."

Lanyard had a clouded smile.

"Frankly, you do give me something to think about."

"It doesn't do any harm, at that, to realize what you're up against."

"But what I am up against is comparatively a simple affair; the worst that can happen to me is to be haled back to France, the hapless victim of a dolt and a viper, Captain Pascal, and Plon—"

"That's if you don't pry yourself out of this jam."

Lanyard had a clouded smile.

"Frankly, you do give me something to think about."

"It doesn't do any harm, at that, to realize what you're up against."

"But what I am up against is comparatively a simple affair; the worst that can happen to me is to be haled back to France, the hapless victim of a dolt and a viper, Captain Pascal, and Plon—"

"I shall, naturally, invoke every power at the disposal of a French citizen—"

"I'll back you to be strollin' up Fifth Avenue, foot-loose, before some folks we know find their land-legs."

"You have more faith in me than I have then, my friend. But my plight, as I say, is elementary, no matter how annoying: we know what I am up against. It is not for myself that I must worry, but for that unhappy boy, my son, alone in a strange land and at the mercy of as formidable an organization of criminals!"

"That brings us to one question I wanted to ask you: what can I do to make your mind easy?"

"Look Maurice up, keep an eye on him, counsel and guide him."

"How very kind you are!"

"Who, me? Kind?" Crane grunted. "Don't kid, yourself. Just interested. Every time I run into you, I feel like a movie fan—just can't wait to see what's goin' to happen next. Next question is: what else can I do for you?"

"You are so generously ready, my friend, you almost make me sorry there is nothing I can ask of you more than you have already promised. Maurice will probably be at the dock to meet me; if by any chance he is not, you will surely find him waiting at the Walpole, where we arranged to rendezvous. Tell him for me, please, I shall get in with the American branch of Delibes, secure the attendance of its legal adviser, and call on the French consul to help bring this inmate of a Captain to his senses. If I shall not fail to call on him. In the meantime, he is not to fret on my account. And yet—"

Crane, who had crossed to look through the window-port, turned back. "We'll be in dock inside two minutes," he said. "What else is on your mind, old-timer?"

"I am anxious lest Maurice, left to himself, fall in with Madame Boyce again. She's a dangerous creature, and he vain with the vanity of his age, susceptible to flattery, impressionable. It was you who headed her try to sap his faith in me last night. Tell the boy, then, I will call him up in his rooms at the Walpole tonight, as soon as telephone connections between the ship and the pier switchboard are established. If he has something to wait for—"

"O. K.—I won't forget. If you think of anything you want to say to me, here's a private number—the place in town I keep to flop in when rush of business prevents my gettin' out to the wife in Larchmont. So long,—the detective discovered sudden haste,—and don't eat your heart out. A person can't always tell what's best for him. Maybe you're gettin' the breaks after all, only the time ain't come yet for you to know it. It wouldn't surprise me. If it comes to that, I don't imagine there's an awful lot could happen that would surprise me. You get that way when you've studied the underside of human nature as long as I have. Why, I wouldn't be surprised even if it turned out that this Plon wasn't just a pifflin'."

Left alone to ruminate Crane's intelligence through evening hours so dismal, with the vessel at dead rest, the pulsations of its normal life all stilled, that it was possible to figure out the only undeated tenant of a necropolis,—when, indeed, even the commotion of breaking out cargo, distant calls and whistles and racket of winches, sounded like the cawings of crows,—Lanyard argued, found his thoughts ever and again reverting to the last thing Crane had said on leaving.

Nothing made it memorable, it's true, except that he need not have said it. Nothing in the superficial sense of his observation, nothing in the remarks he'd found in the spirit of the moment. Plon back for his having dragged Plon back there must, then, Lanyard argued, have been some ulterior reason, something on Crane's mind that he had not till then so much as hinted at.

The hour drew on to midnight. Since the ship had docked, no one had come near him but the steward who had served his dinner, cleared away, and then, seemingly, withdrew to some retreat where room-service calls could not reach him. So had the telephone apparently not been throttled—whether or not shore connections had been established, Lanyard had no means of knowing.

Simply wouldn't answer—while thumpings on the locked door to his stateroom won no response, and the guard who marched the deck out-him was deaf to hails from the window. Not only in other words, had he been unable to talk with Maurice and telegrams he had written bade fair to stand overnight undispatched. The man was nursing, consequently, the devil's own temper when, without warning other than the click of a well-oiled lock, the door opened. Plon entered, shut and locked it behind him, and turning, trained on the prisoner's flickering gray smirk.

"Bon soir, monsieur," he mouthed. "If you will forgive the impertinence as well as the intrusion, permit me to say it is with deep gratification that I see you in your natural state at last—Monsieur le Loup Solitaire to the life!"

"But 'gratification,' monsieur," Lanyard bitterly replied without rising, "if one is at all acquainted with your spirit, is a poor name for your emotion."

"I doubt if there is any man alive so ill qualified to close acquaintance with my spirit. Not that I blame you, monsieur, for that. Plon has been to add, 'If any man was ever more misled by appearances, I never knew him. Be good enough to believe, monsieur, that you behold in me a friend.'"

Lanyard, having looked the creature up and down, slightly lifted one shoulder and one corner of his mouth.

"As well ask me to believe I behold in you an honest man."

"Ah, no, monsieur," the agent of the Sureté protested. "That, I grant you, would be too much. After all, I pretend to be no better than a human being—I have my weaknesses. Consider that I too, I stand before you, am a thief."

"Indeed? And is one expected, in response to that, to say: 'And in what way, monsieur, a thief?'"

"But it is not a jest that one makes with you; it is a confession. It is even more—it is a boast."

MOVIES

AT THE GRAND

An amusingly told tale of woman's emancipation in this modern day and age is unfolded in "Uncertain Lady," Universal's romantic and witty comedy drama, shown on the screen of the Grand Theatre yesterday.

Genevieve Tobin portrays the fascinating role of a modern wife who is a business woman first, while Edward Everett Horton supplies a barrage of laughs with his comic capers, so familiar to movie fans.

"Uncertain Lady" is a "new deal" for American wives who wonder where their wandering hubbies are at night. You've seen pictures depict women who place pleasure before business, but there is one who reverses the formula successfully.

AT THE CLIFTONA

According to an experienced showman and motion picture director, Leo McCarey, director of "Six of a Kind," the Paramount comedy coming on Friday and Saturday to the Cliftona Theatre, the toughest job in producing screen comedies is that of the writer.

"Six of a Kind" features a cast of Hollywood's leading comedians including Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, and George Burns and Gracie Allen.

McCarey declares that "the

Swollen Ankles Often A Symptom of Dropsy

Particularly If the Condition Persists, Says Authority, Advising Investigation

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NOT SO long ago the term "dropsy" was frequently used to describe certain ailments of the body. It was a common complication of Bright's disease or severe disturbances of the heart and blood vessels. Today we seldom use the word. This is due largely to the decrease in the number of cases of Bright's disease.

Dropsy means an excessive accumulation of water in the tissues of the body. This accumulation of fluid results from the inability of the kidneys to secrete or dispose of waste water. The fluid may collect anywhere in the body but as a rule it heaves in the lower extremities. Swelling of the ankles and feet are first noticed. When this occurs investigate carefully to find the cause.

Dropsy is not always the result of Bright's disease. It may occur in such disturbances as organic heart disease, cirrhosis of the liver, and severe anemia. Often it can be traced to some obstruction of the blood or lymph vessels in the pelvic region. It may be the result of a tumor or a cancerous growth.

Dropsy is not a disease. It is a sign of some disturbance in the regular body functions. At first appearance every effort should be made to determine the underlying cause. When recognized in the early stages and the necessary measures are taken, serious complications may be prevented and a speedy cure effected. When a dropsical condition is allowed to go on for a long time it is more difficult to cure and often more serious complications occur.

During the summer many suffer from swollen ankles. This does not necessarily indicate dropsy. In a person whose health is generally good, the condition may be due to poor circulation or some digestive disturbance. Of course, if the swelling persists day after day it should not be neglected. Then is the time to see your doctor.

I am confident that if each of us made a practice of having periodic urine examinations, a great many disorders of the kidney would be recognized before they have a chance to become chronic. I strongly recommend that everyone have a urinalysis made at least twice a year. Talk with your own physician about the report. It may show nothing abnormal. If so you may be pretty sure you have nothing to worry about if your general condition is good. If the doctor finds something amiss he can treat it in time and soon restore you to good health. To have this should be the aim of each of us, for ourselves and those of our immediate family.

Diet is important in the treatment of dropsy. When due to nephritis or inflammation of the kidney, the diet must be carefully prescribed by the attending physician. In most instances the diet should be simple. Foods rich in salt and other irritating substances must be avoided.

If you have any symptoms of dropsy have a thorough physical examination. Then is the time to follow the doctor's advice implicitly. You will be rewarded by restored good health.

Answers to Health Queries

M. L. Q.—How can ugly, red pimples and blemishes on the back be eradicated? My complexion in general is good, but I am ashamed of my back, especially in a bathing suit.

A.—Diet and regular habits should do much to overcome this condition. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

CUSSINS-FEARN SALE IS BEGUN

Advertisement In Today's Herald Explains Bargains Found at Store.

One of the most important retail sales events of the year opened this morning when the Cussins & Fearn Co. started its Good-Will sale. According to the announcement in this newspaper, it is evident that unusual values are offered during this sale. It is understood that the prices on many articles have been radically reduced and that all merchandise during this Good-Will sale will be offered at money-saving prices.

"Our prices have always been very low," said Harold McCord, manager of the local store, "and now during our Good-Will sale they will be lower than ever. I feel that this sale should have a special appeal to our customers because they know that in addition to low prices, they also get quality merchandise. And now during our sale they still get the same quality merchandise at prices which mean even greater savings."

JUDGES OF VALUES
"I have found that the people who trade with us are keen judges of values. I don't believe they came to us in the beginning just because our prices were low, but because they wanted merchandise they could depend upon. Of course, the low prices made the values still greater."

"I am glad to be able to express our appreciation of their trade through the medium of our Good-Will sale. Enabling them to make substantial savings on their purchases is the practical way of telling them what their trade means to us." Judging from the crowds in the vicinity of the Cussins & Fearn store it is evident that Mr. McCord's expectation for a volume business is being realized. Cussins & Fearn announcement in today's paper gives more details of what may be expected in the sale, what values are being offered, and what savings are available. The announcement was evidently carefully read if the volume of the business transacted during the first day of the sale is any indication.

Mr. McCord states that the sale will continue for several days and that he hopes that those who want to take advantage of money-saving prices will pay the store an early visit.

Feeds Rally, Win 7 to 2

The Eshelman Feeds, tied for first place in the softball league, won a hard fought contest from the Purina Chows, Wednesday evening, 7-2, after trailing 2 to 0 entering the seventh inning. A dropped fly ball permitted the Eshelman outfit to tie the score in this frame and they went on to win in the eighth and ninth.

Since the score-keeper did not turn the score-book into The Herald office there is no box score available. Details concerning the run scoring are also missing.

Eddie Callihan pitched for the winning Eshelman team and Pug Fowler was on the hill for the losers.

There is no game scheduled this evening although the Mecca restaurant outfit, as many players as are available, and the Container Corporation are booked for a practice session.

Friday evening the first place race will be settled at least for the time being with the Eshelman Feeds and the Circleville Oils crossing bats. The game is expected to be a duel between Eddie "Hatcha" Callihan for the Feeds and Carl Purcell for the Oils.

EDWARDS TO HELP FORMED OSU COACH

FOSTORIA, July 19.—Definitely turning his back on offers from Springfield high school, William (Big Bill) Edwards, athletic director of Fostoria high, will coach the freshman football squad at Western Reserve University at Cleveland, he said here.

Edwards will take up his new duties August 1. Besides acting as mentor for the yearlings, Edwards will also be an instructor in Adelbert College there and continue his post-graduate studies.

Appointment of Edwards completed the coaching staff at Western Reserve. Sam Willaman, former Ohio State mentor, is now head coach at the school.

Edwards had three offers this summer, he revealed, one was the Springfield job he decided to turn down partly because of a fight over the school superintendent's job there. He also was offered a new contract at the local school and the Western Reserve berth.

He is secretary of the Ohio Coaches Association and was an all-Ohio center at Wittenberg, prior to his graduation in 1931. Since that time, he coached at Massillon high and was at Ohio State, William's former home, as a freshman line coach. He also won high scholarship awards at Wittenberg.

His team here last year was the best in a number of years. It won eight out of 10 and amassed 193 points to their opponents' 57. In 1932, the Fostoria team had won four games, lost five and tied one. Edwards leaves his successor here with a wealth of material which he developed. Always building for the future, he has the local squad in such a fine shape that Fostoria expects to have the best squad in 10 years next season.

YANKEES LOSE, RUTH INJURED AT CLEVELAND

Whipped 15-14 In Slugfest; Bambino Struck By Batted Ball; Tigers Gain.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Only a few haven't realized it long before this but the fact is plain today that the New York Yankees are again proving on their current western tour they are just another ball club when they leave the home grounds.

Colorful and dangerous yes, but those Yankees would hardly win the American league pennant if they had to depend on their success in the hinterlands.

Their current tour through the big bad west gives ample proof of their failings. Including their loss to the Indians at Cleveland yesterday, the New Yorkers have won but three and lost five games since they left home. That is hardly an impressive record for a team rated as the best in the American league. Their half-game lead has disappeared and now they are two and one-half games back of the Detroit Tigers.

38 BINGLES

However, they waged a desperate battle before bowing before the Indians, 15 to 14 in as hectic a game as has been played this year. The New Yorkers piled up 20 hits off Harder, Winegarner, Welland, Connolly, Lee and Bean. The Indians rolled up 18 safeties off Ruffing, VanAtta, Broaca, Deshong and Gomez.

Saltzgeber and Ruffing hit homers for the Yanks and Earl Averil connected for the victors.

In addition, the defeat was costly since Babe Ruth may be lost for several days at least since he suffered a contusion of his right shin bone after being hit by a line drive from Lou Gehrig's bat.

The Detroit Tigers widened their gap over the Yanks defeating the Washington Senators, 4 to 2. Tommy Bridges outpitched Earl Whitehill.

The New York Giants increased their National league lead to three games over the Cubs, winning the fifth and deciding game of their series, 8 to 6. The New Yorkers really clinched the game in the third with a six run spurt during which Mel Ott hit his 22nd homer and Guy Bush was routed from the hill.

Freddy Fitzsimmons was given credit for the victory although he weakened in the later innings and was replaced by Adolpho Luque. It was Fitzsimmons' fifth straight victory and 12th of the season.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

ONE OF THE HOTTEST descriptions of a ball game the janitor has ever heard was given by Tom Manning, Cleveland announcer, over WTAM at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday.—The occasion was the resume of the Cleveland-New York game which the Indians won 15-14. * * * First Cleveland was ahead then New York took the lead—starting the ninth inning Cleveland led 12-9, the Yankees put on a rally that gave them five runs making the score 14-12 for New York; about that time we were ready to "can" Walter Johnson and his entire pitching staff.

Then the Indian half of the ninth and three more runs, Cleveland winning—Doubles, triples, home runs, bases on balls and everything else occurred.—It must have been a crowd pleaser.

Circleville golfers are planning much activity. * * * On July 25, the London team is played on the Madison co. fairways.—All who can possibly go are urged to sign the register at Tink Hill's caddy house.—London will come here later.

The 18-hole qualifying round for the club championship should be played not later than Sunday, July 22, with matches to start on the following Monday.

Appointment of James L. Renick of Columbus as director of Ohio State University's athletic news bureau was announced today by L. W. St. John, athletic director of the university.

The appointment will be effective August 1. Renick, for the past four years an Associated Press sports writer in Ohio, formerly was connected with the sports departments of the Springfield News and Sun and the Detroit Free Press.

Rain Improves Harvest

VIENNA—Rainfall has improved the harvest prospects in Austria where a lengthy drought had been experienced in April and May. Nevertheless, this year's cereal crops will be much less than last year's. Wheat will produce a medium crop, but rye, barley, and oats are expected to be under the average.

Selling to Russia on credit seems a fine way to hasten recovery if some other fellow must take the chance.

Tennis Star Returns

Helen Jacobs

Miss Helen Jacobs, No. 1 tennis player among the women netters of the United States, is pictured in New York City upon her arrival from England where she participated in the Wightman cup matches. She was defeated for the singles title by Dorothy Round of England.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The meeting of the Jolly Stitches 4-H clothing club was held July 17 at the Washington-two school. All responded to the roll call by naming a flower.

The meeting adjourned to be held again Aug. 1, 1934.

A seam demonstration was then given—Mary Katherine Bowman, plain seam; Elizabeth Good, flat-felt seam; Margaret List, French seam.

The remainder of the time was in charge of the recreation leader, Fayette Sayre assisted by her helpers Margaret Good and Fern Richards.

Reporter, MARY KATHERINE BOWMAN

The Wayne-two Willing Workers 4-H club meeting was called to order by the president, Ada Belle May. The roll was called and answered by telling what they wanted to do at the next meeting. It was decided to have a picnic and swimming party at Metzger's farm.

Health reports and demonstrations were given: Feet, Joanna Downey; nails and care of hands, Eleanor McAbee; care of hair, Jany Metzger; sitting, standing and walking correctly, Mary Anise Bush, and teeth, Ada Belle May.

Three visitors were present, Elizabeth Downing, Mildred Peters of Jackson and Katherine Laird, of Columbus. Most of the girls were started on their second garment.

After the business meeting the recreation leader, Jany Metzger, was in charge of several games and music.

Refreshments were served by the leader, Annabelle Barch. Reporter, Mary Anise Bush.

Admiral Christy Returns, Greeted Ashville Friends

ASHVILLE, July 19.—About 45 years ago, possibly forgotten by many who were members, Ashville boasted of a local military organization known as the Miller Light Guards sponsored by and named after the late Samuel W. Miller, one of our local merchants and one time auditor of Pickaway-co.

J. W. Shoemaker, who will be remembered as a former marshal of the village, was captain of the company. Among the number of would-be soldiers was a young man who had not yet reached his majority but had been able by reason of advanced education to secure the appointment of naval cadet at Annapolis.

One night while the company was drilling in Steward's, now

Plum's hall, the recruit was summoned by telegraph to report at once. Escorted by his comrades the young man marched to the present Norfolk and Western depot and boarded a train for the southland. He graduated from the academy with honors, won merited recognition in the Spanish-American war and today is commander of the naval forces at New York harbor. Monday, for a brief time, the hero of this article, Admiral Harry H. Christy, visited with personal friends here.

The parents of the honored naval official were residents of Ashville for a time where the father, J. W. Christy, was engaged in the furniture business in the room now occupied by D. H. Ebert on Main-st. They later removed to Columbus where they resided for some years and both are now dead.

Admiral Christy will be retired by reason of age limit, 64, in October of this year.

The CIRCLEVILLE HERALD and THE UNION-HERALD CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Circleville Herald style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertisement.

Advertising orders for irregular insertions take the one-time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count five average words to the line on paid advertisements.

Charged ads will be received by telephone, and if paid at Circleville Herald office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rate will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or seven times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned. All ads ordered seven times will be published in the Union-Herald (Weekly) and will be counted as one insertion, as will three-time ads ordered printed in Tuesday's or Wednesday's issues of the Daily.

Ads received up to 10:30 A. M. will be inserted the same day. A charge of 50 cents is made for publishing Cards of Thanks. Special rates for yearly advertising upon request.

Careful attention given to mail orders. Rates per line for consecutive insertions: One time 50 per line. Three times 150 per line. Seven times for the price of three.

Prices on Display Classified furnished on request. The publishers will be responsible only for one incorrect insertion of any advertisement.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

AAA would lead to "a capitalist-producer control which will virtually enslave the workers to the capitalists" and eventually "will lead to a form of Fascism peculiar to America."

Friend of Farley

In the last minute rush of making a dozen excellent appointments, Roosevelt put across one which is coming in for a "lot" of criticism.

The appointee is James A. Moffett, heavy contributor to the campaign, close friend of Roosevelt, even closer to Jim Farley, and an Old Deal Democrat in every way.

He was put in that all-important post—Administrator of the Housing Program.

This is Moffett's second trip to Washington. The first, as a member of the NRA Industrial Advisory Board and later the Petroleum Board, was not a success.

At that time there was a tremendous uproar because Walter C. Teagle, head of Standard Oil of New Jersey, asked Moffett to give up his $100,000 salary as vice president.

Democrats accused Teagle, a staunch Republican, of forcing Moffett out because of his New Deal tendencies.

Later it became apparent that Teagle had other reasons. Jimmy was a nice boy, most engaging personality, exuding charm and likeability, a hale-fellow-well-met, but not a big leaguer.

His big job with Standard rested, partly at least, it was said, on the fact that his father once headed the company.

Teagle worked with the NRA Labor Board, proved himself more liberal to Labor than labor representatives. Moffett went back to New York.

Merry-Go-Round

The senate actually passed a birth control bill in the hectic closing days of the recent session—but only for a few minutes.

Nevada's paunchy Pat McCarran, out of the chamber when the measure was approved without dissent, rushed back when he heard what had happened, demanded reconsideration.

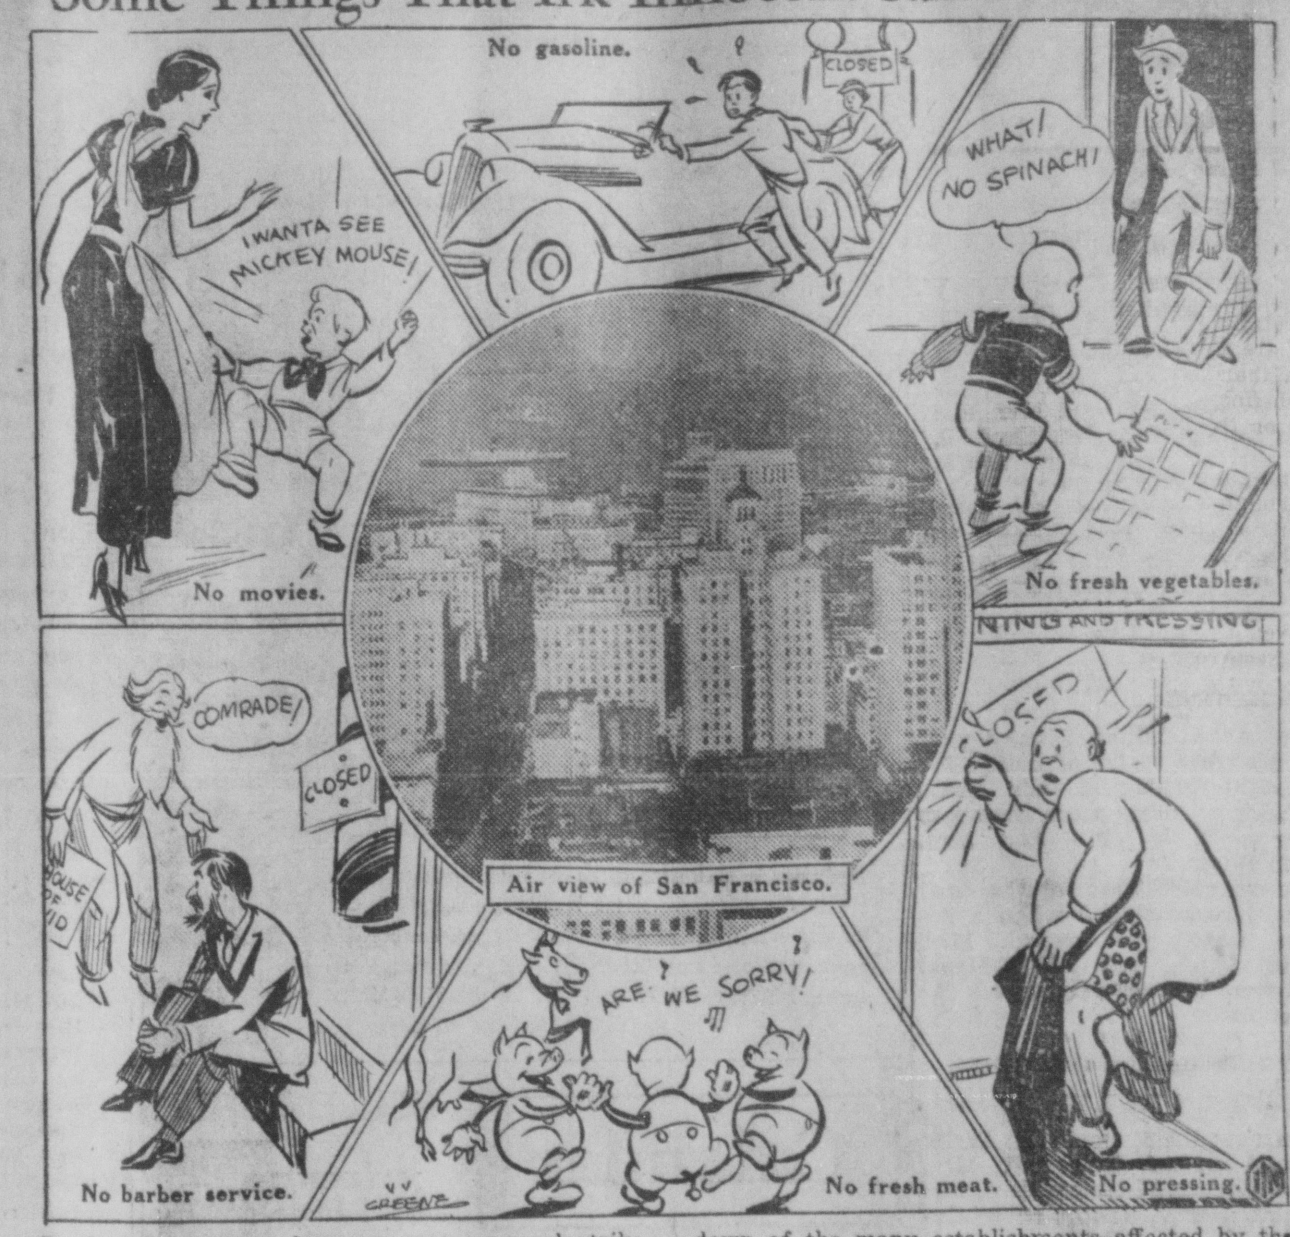

As opposition to his motion would have forced a record vote, which few Senators wanted to face, the bill was hastily recalled, put back on the shelf.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is having difficulties with its new elaborate building. Owing to labor trouble the structure is still unfinished. The water has not as yet been turned on, and to use a lavatory ICC workers have to cross the street to the old Post Office Department building.

The CCC, through a grant of PWA funds, has enrolled a hundred artists, has them painting scenic canvasses out in the woods.

Some Things That Irk Innocent San Franciscans

In San Francisco, where a severe general strike is raging, citizens have found their freedom considerably jeopardized as a result of the closing down of the many establishments affected by the widespread walkout. The above sketches depict some of the things citizens must do without.

Real Political Hat

DES MOINES, Ia.—A political hat is more than a mere phrase at Grundy Center and Clarinda, small Iowa cities. At both, Republican nominees were selected by placing two names in a hat and drawing to decide the winner after a tie in the primary vote.

It is estimated that 5 per cent of Ohio farmers will find it desirable to take advantage of the provisions of the Frazier-Lemke bill. This 5 per cent may strengthen their distressed financial situation by investigating the provisions of the bill. Members of county farm and home protective committees are in position to explain them.

COUNCIL 'INTERESTED' IN GAS PROPOSAL

Some Wall Street Brokers Find Securities Act Not So Bad After All

WASHINGTON — The much-maligned Securities Act has now been in operation approximately one year. And gradually there are being heard lone voices crying in the wilderness of Wall Street that it is not so bad after all.

In fact, it looks as if the Securities Act, despite all the hue and cry against it, might do one great thing for Wall Street — re-establish investment confidence.

For many months, the Securities Act was treated by brokers and bankers as worse than cholera. Only gold mining ventures, beer and whiskey interests knocked on the door of the Federal Trade Commission to float new issues.

Wall Street planned to starve the Securities Act out, demonstrate to Roosevelt that the rigid regulation by Jim Landis was regarding recovery. The scheme was abetted by the fact that the public was not ready to buy anyway.

But now the boycott seems to be over. Wall Street brokers, the Securities Act has come to stay. Big companies have been coming in with big bond flotations.

The same thing is happening here that happened in England after the passage of its securities act many years ago. The old slogan "Let the Buyer Beware" was changed to "Let the Seller Beware."

In the end Wall Street probably will find the Securities Act as big a blessing as the Federal Reserve Act which it once sought to strangle.

Campaign Debt

Just before Senator Bill Borah departed for his home in Boise, Idaho, he received an interesting suggestion.

Several Democratic Senators proposed that he issue a public call for a fund to pay off the $35,000 campaign debt which the Democratic National Committee owes.

Chairman of the new Securities Exchange Commission. Borah, it will be recalled, started such a fund when the Senate's Teapot Dome Committee unearthed the fact that oil-millionaire Harry F. Sinclair had contributed a large sum to the Republican National Committee.

On the basis of this record, Borah's democratic colleagues wanted him to take the initiative in a similar "purging"—as they called it—of their party.

The grizzled old orator, however, declined the honor. "There is plenty to do cleaning up the Republican Party," he told them laughingly, "without taking on yours. Why don't you do it yourselves?"

"We don't dare," was the answer. "The President wouldn't like it."

New Deal Fascism?

Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the left wing British Labor Party, sometimes accused of being revolutionary, visited Washington recently. He conferred with Roosevelt, Johnson, Tugwell, many cabinet leaders.

Returning to England he wrote his impressions, which included the following:

"From the Socialist point of view the whole course of events in the United States is full of danger."

The reason, he explained, was the probability that the NRA and

FATHER OF 9 CRASH VICTIM

GEO. RHYMER'S NECK BROKEN, TRUCK, CAR HIT

Wife, Four Children Hurt in Collision With B. F. Rose's Truck

ON STOUTSVILLE-RD

Bowers Exonerates Standard Oil Driver

George Rhymer, 47, father of nine children, was killed almost instantly and his wife, May, and four of their children suffered minor injuries when the Rhymer Ford sedan and the heavy Standard Oil Co. truck driven by Bert F. Rose, 898 S. Court-st., collided opposite the residence of Mrs. Florence Heffner, one mile west of Stoutsville, Wednesday afternoon.

A broken neck caused Mr. Rhymer's death. The impact of the collision is believed to have caused the injury. Mrs. Rhymer and children, Charles Ray, 14, Katherine, 12, Richard, 10, and Merle, 5, were taken to Berger hospital in the Crites and Van Cleve ambulance, Stoutsville, but were discharged after treatment by Drs. E. R. Austin and Addison Kefauver.

CALLED UNAVOIDABLE
Mrs. Heffner, who witnessed the fatal collision, said Rose, who has never had an accident in all the years he has driven for the company, was not to blame. Rhymer was driving from the C. G. Good lane. He had been at the Good residence making arrangements to thresh.

Rose was driving toward Circleville. Coroner C. E. Bowers and Deputy Bryan Custer investigated the crash and at the conclusion of his investigation Dr. Bowers declared the accident was unavoidable and termed Rhymer's death "accidental."

Mr. Rose, who has always had a reputation as a careful driver, was much grieved after the accident.

FUNERAL SATURDAY
Mr. Rhymer, who was a Fairfield co. farmer, is survived by his widow, Mrs. May Rhymer, and the following children: Mrs. Clara Good, Stoutsville; Mrs. Marcella Arledge, Orient; Mrs. Viola Hartman, Amanda; Mrs. Pauline Pearce, Tilton; and J. D. Charles Ray, Katherine, Richard and Merle, all at home. A brother and sister also survive.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Stoutsville Lutheran church with Rev. J. M. Wentz officiating. Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery by H. E. Deienbaugh and Son.

WHEAT CLIMBS 2 CENTS MORE

All Grain Futures Go To New High on Chicago Market; Drought Reported.

Wheat which has been steadily climbing for the past two weeks gained two cents more today.

The J. W. Eshelman and Son Milling Co., which provides market reports for The Herald, reported its price offered to farmers today 90 cents, the first time it has reached that mark this year.

Continued hot and dry weather in most parts of the grain belt brought active buying and pushed grain futures up to new highs on the movement during the forenoon dealings.

The market was again called upon to absorb heavily realizing and there was fairly heavy hedging, especially in corn, but the selling was well taken and prices displayed a strong undertone around the best levels of the day.

The weather map showed scattered showers in parts of Illinois and Iowa and little of consequence elsewhere. High temperatures continued although cooler weather was reported in parts of Canada.

Winnipeg was 1 3-8 to 1 1-2c higher and Liverpool 1 to 1 1-4 pence higher.

At mid-session wheat improved 1 1-8 to 1 3-8c, corn 3-8 to 7-8c, oats 1-4 to 3-8c and rye 1 1-3 to 1 3-4c.

Estimated carlot receipts, wheat 1-4; corn 325 and oats 22.

EXPECT STATEMENT OF MAJ. BRAUGHT

Relief Chief to Speak Relative To Restoration of Relief Here.

A statement on Pickaway-co's relief situation was to be issued today by Major E. O. Braught, executive director of the state relief commission, but at press-time Thursday, the contents of the statement had not been made known.

The statement has been expected for some time, relative to the possible restoration of federal and state relief to Pickaway-co and the approval of Howard Irwin as relief director here.

The relief commission is expected to give its approval to Braught's recommendations for returning the county to its former status, Federal and state relief funds were withdrawn from the county July 1.

MISS MAY, 82, DIES IN WEST

Miss Rose O. May, aged 82, sister of the late Ira L. May, passed away Tuesday evening at her home in Berkeley, Cal., a telegram received here today disclosed.

Her death came only five days after her brother's. She was the last of her family. Miss May had been seriously ill for four months, heart trouble causing her death.

It is believed the funeral and burial will take place in California.

RAILROADER HURT

I. U. Dick, 40, of Zanesville, an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad, suffered three fractured ribs Wednesday when he fell from a switch engine which was operating at the Eshelman mill.

A small son of Mrs. Winifred Weaver, S. Clinton-st., colored, fell and broke his left collar-bone. Both injuries were treated by Dr. Austin.

DELEGATES NAMED TO LEGION MEET

Paul Betz and William Betts, Jr., have been named delegates of Howard Hall post American Legion to the convention at Cedar Point July 20.

Alternates are Ed C. Ebert and Henry Mason.

Rotary International Meeting is Reported

Methodists Burn Notes, Clearing Church of Debt

Members of the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church participated in a gala evening, Wednesday, when the fourth quarterly conference was held in the church basement under the church of any indebtedness. The notes amounted to $2,160, this amount being obtained by a financial drive conducted by Rev. Herman A. Sayre, who received assistance from several members of the church's official board.

The notes were presented to F. E. Barnhill, president of the board of trustees, by C. R. Barnhart, the former finance committee, the former applying the match.

Tribute was paid by various church officials, and by Rev. C. L. Thomas, retired minister, to Rev. Sayre for his splendid effort which resulted in the elimination of the indebtedness.

MINISTER INVITED
During the conference session an invitation for the return of Rev. Sayre to the local charge for another year was issued, resulting in a hearty unanimous vote of all who attended.

The highlight of the evening was the burning of notes clearing the church of any indebtedness. The notes amounted to $2,160, this amount being obtained by a financial drive conducted by Rev. Herman A. Sayre, who received assistance from several members of the church's official board.

END OF WEST COAST STRIKE NEARER TODAY

Johnson Takes Role of Mediator in Reaching Union Agreement

BUSINESS RESUMES

Food, Gasoline Ban Lifted; Traction Active

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—(INS.)—Calling off of San Francisco's general strike seemed imminent today.

General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator who has taken over the job of federal mediator in the crisis, declared after a lengthy conference with labor leaders that he was giving the impression they would recommend without delay that the 122,000 sympathetic strikers return to their jobs.

The conference lasted until after midnight. Those who talked with Johnson included Edward Vandenberg, chairman of the general strike committee, and Michael Casey, national president of the International Teamsters union.

NEED RATIFICATION
All of the 177 unions involved in the widespread walkout in sympathy with the dock strikers would have to individually ratify any recommendation of the general strike committee. Such ratification would be a perfunctory proceeding as far as a majority of these unions are concerned.

Already this morning there were indications on all sides that the general strike was drawing toward a speedy conclusion. Broad smiles came back to the faces of the 1-200,000 residents of the San Francisco bay district as conditions headed toward normalcy.

The city's pulse quickened noticeably. Street cars were running freely. Restaurants were reopened. Hotels livened up and withdrew police and detectives from the main entrances. Trucks carrying food rolled into the city. Meat markets opened and householders stocked up on fresh meat. Gasoline stations within the city limits were again operating, and as a result motor car traffic increased tremendously.

HERALD COLLAPSE
Newspapers hit the streets with big black headlines announcing: "General Strike Collapses: Food and Gas Ban Lifted."

The merchants' committee of San Francisco published advertisements headed: "Business as Usual."

SKY GAZERS MAY SEE AIR ARMADA

Possibility that Circleville would get a glimpse of the ten Alaska-bound Martin bomber planes Thursday afternoon was expressed today when it was learned that the armada had left Washington en route to Dayton.

The planes, a part of the U. S. Army Air Corps, are going to Alaska on a reconnaissance flight where the 1935 fleet maneuvers will also be held.

It was expected that the armada would reach this section sometime during the middle of the afternoon.

Onion Field In Turmoil, Ask Troops

National Guard Observer Ordered There Before Troops Are Sent In.

KENTON, July 19.—Sheriff Wilbur Mitchell, declaring that the rioting in the strike of 400 onion weathers in the fertile Scioto marshlands was beyond control of his force of special deputy sheriffs, today requested that Governor George White send state militia men into the area.

Mitchell, who previously had expressed belief that he could maintain order with his force of 50 deputies, reversed his stand and decided to ask the governor for troops as sporadic rioting broke out through the 17,000 acre region.

FOUR BADLY HURT

Four persons were seriously hurt and many others—at least a score—suffered minor injuries as strikers and pickets clashed. The pickets are attempted to stop all traffic into the marshlands, the largest onion growing fields in the world.

Meanwhile, the strike spread forcibly to the Hog Creek marshes, also near Kenton. Three hundred workers there were forced to lay down their garden tools as a mob of more than 400 strikers and sympathizers from the Scioto marshlands area threatened them.

COLUMBUS, July 19.—Brig. Gen. Ludwig Gomally, an Ohio national guard observer will be sent to the strike-torn Scioto marshlands immediately to determine whether use of state militiamen are necessary to quell rioting there. Governor George White indicated today.

When Sheriff Wilbur Mitchell, in charge of the 17,000-acre Scioto field called asking for troops, the governor instructed him to communicate with Adj. Gen. Frank Henderson, who is at the summer camp of the Ohio National Guard at Camp Perry, O.

WOMAN KILLS CRUEL MATE

Ties Finger To Gun Trigger In Trying to Prove Death Was Suicide.

URBANA, July 19.—Mrs. Blanche Sagers, 40-year-old alleged murderess, who calmly arranged the "suicide" of her wife-beating husband, Clarence, 39, was held in county jail here today facing a possible murder charge.

Ohio's woman prosecutor, Grace Fern Heck, announced that the woman had confessed to the crime.

Mrs. Sagers, according to the woman prosecutor, defended her action by saying "my husband got what he deserved."

The husband was found dead on a pile of neatly arranged sacks in a truck in the barn on the Sagers farm, near here. He had been shot in the temple. A rifle was fixed to the floor of the barn with a string tied to the trigger and Sagers' finger.

ROSS-CO STARTS CANAL CAMPAIGN

Funds Needed so Junior Chamber of Commerce Accepts Collection Task.

Chillicothe Junior Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to collect $500, Ross-co's share in organizing 18 counties in the Scioto valley into a Scioto-Sandusky rivers conservancy district.

Alan Jordan, executive secretary of the Ohio Valley Flood Control Congress, visited Chillicothe this week and prompted the chamber's action. Pickaway-co is included in this district, but no definite action has been taken here as yet.

Jordan estimates that the preliminary expense in organizing the 18 counties will be about $4,000. The Chillicothe Junior Chamber agreed to take on the work of raising this money and securing the signatures to petitions as a major project to start immediately.

Before a conservancy district is formed, it must be approved by the common pleas judges in the district. As a result, petitions must be filed in common pleas court specifying the type of work the district is undertaking.

"Red" Threat On Coast Smashed

"Wrecking Crew," Police Raid Known Communistic Headquarters; Furniture, Literature Destroyed; "Through In San Francisco," Says Police Chief.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—More communists and other radicals had had headaches in San Francisco today.

Continuing their spectacular raids, squads of police and mysterious anti-radical citizen "wrecking crews" smashed four more asserted radical headquarters and struck again at two previously invaded.

The technique was the same—a quick dash by the motorized "vigilantes" of the strike era, flying clubs and fists, fleeing radicals, smashed furniture—headquarters wrecked.

JOBS "FINISHED"
What the police and the citizen "wrecking crews" left, disorganized mobs went in and finished. They left nothing but shambles. Two men were arrested and one was reported slugged and kidnapped by the unofficial raiders. The police gave scant credence to the kidnapping report. They also said they had no idea who the unofficial raiders were.

"The first point of attack was a 'Communist college' where a fierce riot took place," where these raiders struck in rapid succession at three other places, using hatchets to demolish furniture, fixtures and pictures. Literature and placards were burned. Heads were cracked with clubs.

While police were diligently trying to trace this "wrecking crew," about 25 men in four cars drove quietly to the headquarters of the industrial workers of the world. "Let's go!" one of the motorists shouted.

They went in as the occupants fled out a rear door. They left in forty-five minutes. But they had been busy meanwhile smashing a piano, photograph, chairs, tables, desks, windows and doors.

Meanwhile police appeared at a building where a Communists' meeting was reported under way. The officers took their positions at two doors, but overlooked a third out of which the occupants of the building fled. The place, however, was immediately completely and fiercely wrecked. Benches were even driven through the walls.

NOT REOPENED
Captain J. J. O'Meara announced that none of the wrecked places would be allowed to reopen and that anybody found in them would be arrested.

"The Communist party is through in San Francisco," he said. "The organization can't face such adverse sentiment."

While the raids were taking place, police, district attorney, courts, the army and immigration officials were dealing with 300 men and women already under arrest and charged with being dangerous radicals.

FLIERS BEGIN ALASKA TRIP

Hop From Bolling Field For Dayton, Then to Minneapolis and Canada.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—With a deafening crescendo of power, ten giant army bombers soared out of Bolling field today on the start of a massed formation flight to Alaska.

The sleek Martin bombers carried 14 of the army's crack military fliers and 16 mechanics under command of Lt. Col. Henry H. Arnold, commanding officer of March field, Riverside, California, and formerly in charge of army air mail operations in the central zone.

Colonel Arnold's bright yellow-winged and olive drab bodied monoplane rose into the air at 10:01 a. m. It was quickly followed by the other nine machines, whose powerful engines seemed to make the earth literally shake with vibration as they mounted skywards.

Ostenensibly headed on a training flight to test the ability of the fliers to reach distant points on short notice, the fliers actually are starting out to make an aerial photographic survey of Alaska which will be available for plans to strengthen the defense works of that northern outpost should the need arise.

After rising into the air, the bombers headed in the direction of Dayton, Ohio, where a brief stop will be made at Wright field for lunch before continuing on to Minneapolis.

BOY, 2, GAINING

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 19.—The condition of Robert Connor, 21 months old, was declared today at the White Plains hospital to be "favorable."

"Bobby" found in the woods near his home at Hartsdale, after having been missing for five days, is steadily gaining strength. He probably will be home within ten days, hospital authorities said.

An official bulletin issued at the hospital said that the child's temperature was 100. It stated that the youngster is being fed skimmed milk and a patented baby food.

45-CENT RATE OFFERED CITY BY PIPE FIRM

'Dads' Meet Friday to Confer; Expect to Vote Next Wednesday

SOME READY NOW

Officials of Four Other Cities at Session

City council, Wednesday evening, favorably received an offer of the Universal Pipe Line Co., Columbus, to furnish 45-cent gas to Circleville, and decided to meet Friday evening as a committee of the whole to discuss the proposition.

Last evening's session was adjourned at 10:15 p. m. until next Wednesday at 8 p. m. when a vote will be taken on the ordinance.

The proposal as submitted by W. H. Phipps, president of the company, is the same as that accepted by Portsmouth last week, city council there passing an ordinance on July 11 incorporating all the features offered Circleville, including the same rates of 45 cents per thousand cubic feet, the corporation limits or 20 miles delivered to the consumer.

MANY OFFICIALS HERE
Officials from Portsmouth, Wellston, Jackson and Chillicothe, cities which are also considering the offer, were present at last evening's meeting and each city was there favorably impressed with the proposal.

Several of the local commissioners were so impressed that they expressed their willingness to pass the ordinance at last night's meeting.

According to Phipps, who was director of Ohio commerce under former Governor Harry L. Davis, the company represents material interests and large independent gas-producers who control 700,000 acres of productive fields. The company has negotiated with the cities of Akron, Canton and Mayfield in the northern part of the state and expects to secure agreements by ordinance from each of them, favorable resolutions having already been passed in each case, Phipps said.

The company is considering laying its pipe line up the Scioto valley to serve Chillicothe, Circleville and perhaps Jackson. It is endeavoring to secure the rights of the Ohio and Erie canal for the laying of its pipe and expects to get this privilege except for small proportions where the lines will have to go around the canal land.

10-YEAR CONTRACT
The company would offer a 10-year contract, giving Circleville a further 10-year option at the same rates. The consumer's rate would be 45 cents per thousand for the first thousand cubic feet and 45 cents for each additional thousand.

At present, both Chillicothe and Circleville are paying the Ohio rate of 50 cents.

Farm Leaders Discuss Problems Here July 24

Farm bureau leaders of this county have been invited to attend a district meeting of the organization, July 24, at the Pickaway county farm bureau, where legislative and taxation matters will be discussed. The meeting is one of a series to the state sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, with headquarters in Columbus.

It's time that farmers and other people in Ohio rise up and demand that unprecedented conditions be recognized, and that a program of taxation be adopted to meet the actual needs of our schools and of the governmental expenses which are necessary to uphold a decent standard of living, states Perry L. Green, president in urging local farm bureau leaders to attend the meeting. The following are some of the questions to be considered:

1. On how much less money can your schools operate efficiently?
2. What present expenditures in the operation of county and local government do you recommend to be eliminated to produce further economy? What consolidation of present offices do you recommend?
3. What amount of your present tax expenditures are now used for debt retirement for both schools and roads?
4. Could the county welfare activities be coordinated under one management so as to produce more effective economies of operation?
5. Is there valid opposition to an income tax or an increase in utility excise taxes?
6. Do you favor passage of a proposed highway amendment with the limit on the amount of tax that can be levied on gasoline, or should we leave it open so that sufficient revenue can be raised and not allow it to be possible to come back to real estate for any highway maintenance or costs?

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Wash Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes... Vigor... Vitality... Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters, which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you have trouble, with too frequent urination, backache, and discomfort, the 15 miles of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger situation is the beginning of kidney trouble. Big pain, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, hunched, swollen feet, and aching, rheumatic pains and dizziness. It's kidneys that empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter. Your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and keep you up for many months. Don't wait. Get your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS. A doctor's prescription... which has been successful for millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Don't take chances with strong drugs. Doan's Pills are the only pills that claim to fix up in 26 minutes for they may seriously irritate and inflame delicate tissues. Suffering from starvation and exposure, the infant was taken to a nearby hospital.

OHIO REAL ESTATE MEN EXPLAIN LAW OF DELINQUENT TAX

An active campaign is being conducted by the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards to acquaint taxpayers with the provisions of the Whittemore bill concerning the payment of delinquent taxes in installments with remission of penalties. The association feels that a great many taxpayers are unaware of the opportunity which they have of availing themselves of the provisions of this act which was passed this year by the Second Special Session of the Legislature. The bill, amended Senate Bill No. 3, provides that, if 1933 taxes and assessments be paid, taxes and assessments which were delinquent in 1932 and prior thereto may be paid without penalties or interest on penalties. Two methods of payment are possible. First, payment may be made in a lump sum amounting to the principal due, penalties and interest on penalties being remitted. Second, the taxpayer may elect to pay the amount due in installments. If the latter course is chosen, collections are made in six annual installments, ten per cent each year for five years, the remaining fifty per cent to be paid the sixth year. No penalty is charged, but interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, payable annually, is collected. The installments are due at the time prescribed for the payment of the second half taxes. This covers both real property taxes and assessments, and personal and classified property taxes.

The association is urging all taxpayers to take immediate advantage of this opportunity to wipe out delinquencies without penalty. The time remaining to make use of the provisions of the act is extremely short, inasmuch as the bill expires September first of this year. It is thought very unlikely that such a chance will soon again be available.

New German Stamps

BERLIN—To remind the people of the colonies Germany lost by the treaty of Versailles the German Post Office issued a set of stamps commemorating German colonial pioneers. Stamps of 3, 6, 12, and 25 pfennigs bear the pictures of Franz Luedertz, Gustav Nachtigal, Carl Peters and Hermann von Wissmann.

and said that her husband had committed suicide.

In Sagers' pocket was found a clipping from a newspaper which told of his arrest and conviction on a charge of assaulting his wife last Saturday. He was fined $10 and costs at the time and it marked the fourth time he had been brought into court on wife-beating charges.

A note, saying that he was worried over financial troubles and domestic difficulties and that he could not "see my way out."

The "suicide" note, according to Prosecutor Heck, was the woman's one mistake in arranging her husband's death.

Becoming suspicious of the handwriting, Miss Heck called in E. J. Wantis and H. C. Robinson, of the Ohio criminal identification bureau. After questioning the woman, they obtained an admission to the crime, they alleged.

According to the alleged confession, Mrs. Sagers arose early yesterday morning and went to the barn where she found her husband sleeping. She arranged the rifle and the string, she is said to have related, and then shot her husband. There was only one bullet in the gun but it was effective.

Returned to the house, Mrs. Sagers prepared feed and water for the chickens in the barnyard and fed them. She then sat down and ate her breakfast and waited for an hour before she called the undertaker.

Reichswehr Looms as Power After Nazi Purging

General von Seekt

General von Blomberg

Versailles treaty "dummy tanks"

Out of the chaotic blankness following the Nazi "blood bath" ordered by Chancellor Adolf Hitler, looms the Reichswehr, whose 100,000 gray-uniformed, goose-stepping soldiers have become the real power of the reich, pushing aside the storm trooper legions to hold in their hands the future destiny of the nation. Monarchist, anti-Republican and loyal to their ex-chief, Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, aged president of Germany, the Reichswehr is composed of privates enlisted for 12 years, and officers for 25 years, because the allied nations during the Versailles peace conference wished to prevent growth of Germany's armed forces. Led by General von Seekt, fiery, unemotional junker, the Reichswehr has become the most efficient and powerful professional army in the world, despite its complete lack of heavy arms, tanks, airplanes. General Blomberg is present chief, holding the portfolio of war minister in Hitler's cabinet.

END OF WEST

usual" and informed readers that "street cars are running; motor car traffic is unimpaired and thousands of people are traveling in a normal manner." The "kick" line of the ads asked: "Why not shop as usual?"

Department scores, which were almost empty the first three days of this week, began doing almost a normal business this morning.

Vigilance of the police in the downtown district relaxed. The city began to look like its old self.

Over on San Francisco's famous waterfront the national guardsmen—4,500 strong and fully equipped—remained on duty, however. They guarded a "front" of almost five miles. Their activities were directed by Major General David P. Barrows from "GHQ" aboard the river steamer "Fort Butler," docked near the Ferry Building.

Heads of the steamship companies announced that the port of San Francisco is to be opened; that the great liners are coming back to this port instead of being routed from Los Angeles.

TO CLEAR DOCKS
Thousands of stevedores were to be assigned at once to clear the docks and be prepared to load and unload ships.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco was taking a leading part in the movement to bring the general strike to an end. He said:

"In the presence of a general strike nothing can be arbitrated. That strike must be ended."

General Johnson likewise declared the calling off of the general strike was the first thing that had to be done before any material progress toward peace can be made. "When that is accomplished we can get somewhere," asserted Johnson.

The blunt speaking Johnson declared the public is not in sympathy with a general strike, adding:

"A general strike is Soviet government. An American community like San Francisco simply will not stand that."

COMMUNISTS ROUTED

Anti-communistic sentiment grew in the community. San Francisco's mysterious anti-radical wrecking crew swung into action again and smashed four more Communist headquarters.

The wrecking crew, a step ahead of the police, dashed into the various Communist headquarters and smashed furniture to bits. They invaded Ruthberger hall, the "Communist College" and wrecked the interior of the place. The police came later and arrested two men and confiscated a bayonet and a cavalry saber found in the hall.

In rapid fashion the raiders descended upon the North Beach Workers' center, the Chinese Workers' center and a school on Powell-st. They used hatchets and clubs to demolish furniture and fixtures. They scattered radical literature to the four winds.

Prior to these raids approximately 300 men had been arrested in raids on Communist gathering places and at open air meetings. These men were brought before Municipal Judges George J. Steiger and Sylvain J. Lazarus.

Squads of immigration inspectors and army intelligence officers were on hand ready to take over all cases which might come under their jurisdiction.

The judges overruled protests of George Anderson, who acted as attorney for the men and who demanded separate jury trials for them. All the defendants were held in $1,000 cash bail or $2,000 bond.

45-Cent Rate Offered City By Pipe Firm

Gas Co. an average rate of 45 cents per thousand.
Under the proposal submitted here and accepted by Portsmouth, the city has three options. It would, in any case, proceed to condemn the distributing system of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. here as soon as it was assured by the Universal company of the ability to carry out its part of the contract, the city not being obligated to turn a hand until this is certain.

After condemning the gas company property either before the courts or the state utilities commission, the city would then acquire it at a price set by the court or commission. Funds for the acquisition of the property would be provided by the Universal company, which would accept first mortgage bonds on it. The city would then buy its gas from the Universal at 30 cents and sell it locally at whatever price it chose, retaining the bonds on the profit made under the venture.

MIGHT LEASE SYSTEM

Under the second option the city might lease the distributing system to the Universal company which would deliver gas to the consumer at 45 cents and maintain the distribution lines and collect all bills. In this case the city would be given a return on its lease, this return in time retiring

the bonds and giving the city ownership of the system.

The third option gives the city the right to sell the distributing system to the Universal at a price no less than the cost of acquisition by the city.

The entire contract is flexible and apparently contains nothing which would tie up the city in a financial tangle, it is said. Acquisition of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. property would not result in additional taxation, according to statements made Wednesday night.

Phipps introduced his subject last night by identifying himself as an attorney from Paulding, O. He was a state oil inspector in 1908 and later was appointed by President William Howard Taft as auditor-general of the Philippine Islands where he served until 1914. He resumed his law practice until 1921 when he was made state governor Harry Davis. He explained that the Universal Pipe Line Company is merely a promoting group, backed by financiers and large independent producers anxious to find an outlet for gas. As soon as cities lined up as clients, the money will be forthcoming with which to carry out the company's promises, Phipps said.

COMPARES COSTS

He explained how gas utilities in some cases claim to be paying as much as 45 cents for their gas, bringing it in from outside the state, while gas is being bought by them in small quantities from such fields as at Canton for 12 to 18 cents. Gas can be bought in the West Virginia fields at from 5 to 12 cents, representatives of the company said. Phipps also quoted geologists as saying that there is a great reserve of gas in both Ohio and West Virginia, but that Ohio has an even larger reserve than West Virginia. The Jackson Gallia, and Lawrence counties field, Phipps declared, was a fine producing prospect.

The company agrees to furnish gas with a minimum rating of 900 B. T. U. which is in line with the city's wishes and will give a performance bond of reasonable amount.

Following Phipps' talk, W. L. Dickey, city solicitor of Portsmouth, was introduced and he explained how Portsmouth became interested in the 'Universal' company's proposition.

Committees on young people's work, membership and evangelism, music, finance, benevolence, foreign missions, hospitals and homes, auditing, church records, education, religious education, supply, pastoral relation, nomination committee, trial of appeals, director of religious education and pulpit decorations were also appointed.

Dickey pointed out that Portsmouth doesn't obligate itself for a thing until the gas is piped to it. He said it obligates itself to add anything to the burden of the taxpayer. Instead, it gives an opportunity to offer a lower gas rate. The solicitor said he believed the cities of Portsmouth, Chillicothe and Circleville had something in common in that they were all striving for lower gas rates. He believed, he said, that some united action taken at this time would be most beneficial to all.

MAYOR BARRETT CONVINCED
Mayor Walter S. Barrett of Chillicothe, was also introduced and said he was convinced that the Universal company's offer was a good proposition. He said he felt that Chillicothe city council would pass the ordinance next week.

Mayor Isaac N. Davies of Jackson and B. F. Wills, Wellston insurance agent, also made short talks in which they lauded the offer.

Other out-of-town representatives present last night included Jack Hayes, Oscar Anthony and James Keating, councilmen; H. H. Brown, president of council; C. C. Cox, assistant service director; Mayor Barrett and Thomas Hughes, all of Chillicothe; Mayor Davies, City Solicitor Benson L. Owens and Simon David of Jackson, and B. F. Wills of Wellston.

Several Circleville councilmen are expected to attend the meeting of Chillicothe council next Monday evening, when a vote will be taken on the offer presented by the Universal Pipe Line Company.

A Live Tip To FAT MEN

There's probably a thousand physicians in the United States who would recommend the "little daily dose of Kruschen" to men who display a too prominent abdomen.

If these fat men would only lose their prejudice for a week and in the meantime take just one jar of Kruschen Salts they would be so overwhelmingly satisfied at the healthy loss in weight that most of them would shout—

"Why have I been carrying all this excess baggage around with me all these years?"

Ed. Jordan way down in Levee, Arizona, wanted to lose 50 pounds of fat and hired Kruschen to do it for him—he took 3 jars and got rid of 56 pounds and writes a letter recommending Kruschen to all fat men.

One jar lasts 4 weeks—get it at Hamilton & Ryan's or any drugstore in the world—take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—keeps blood cool in summer.—Ad.

"How did that get on my coat?"

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER XXVIII

"He may have done just what he said he would, at that—maybe he had got off light because Miss Crozier's pa was on hand to meet her when the plane lit, and she got him to say a good word for Maurice."

"But how can we be sure M. Crozier—"

"Stands to reason he'd be there to greet his daughter, and finally Maurice's emerald through the Customs."

Lanyard opened a frank stare, and the detective quaked with deep enjoyment.

"The idea being that I wasn't supposed to be wise to that angle?" The bronze mask bent crinkling over the flame that Crane was setting to his pipe. "I guess, at that, maybe I've got no business to; but it's like I told you—hard to stop an old mule from brownin' on any loose feed he comes across."

"The more I see of you, my friend, the less wonder I feel when it appears that you know everything."

"Not everything," Crane with judicial gravity confessed. "Take this crumb of truth, now—he's still got me guessing. All I know about him is he's phony. And one thing you don't know yet is that the old girl yanked that green ice out of the purser's box just before the plane sailed and gave it to Miss Fennio to take in and declare—thoroly slippin' one over on the mob that's tailin' the junk."

"And one is happy to infer, from the tenor of this telegram, that the ruse was successful."

The detective shook his head gravely. "The returns ain't all in yet. All we know so far is that she stole several lengths' lead while the rest of the jocks were nappin'; but that doesn't mean the race is won yet; there's a dark horse in it, or I ain't track-wise."

"Isquith?"

"Maybe. Or maybe it's the Main Squeeze that gives Freddie his orders—Fish-eye," Crane elucidated, reading Lanyard's blank look.

"Leonard Schwartzstein—they've got other names for him in New York, but Fish-eye's the politest."

"I remember reading about him in newspaper correspondence from America," Lanyard said with the slowness of a man whose mind is troubled. "You have reason to believe he may be concerned in this affair."

"If he isn't, you can bet me your life he will be, soon as he finds out about it. If this mob wins, and Mrs. Crozier loses and Fish-eye ain't in on the cut, he's liable to act up mean and ask all concerned some pretty pointed questions. But there are so many on hand that are close to him, it's the last thing likely that he won't have a fin in the business from the start-off. Not that it was my idea, when I drifted in here, to tell you anything to upset you."

Lanyard had a clouded smile. "Frankly, you do give me something to think about."

"It doesn't do any harm, at that, to realize what you're up against."

"But what I am up against is comparatively a simple affair; the worst that can happen to me is to be haled back to France, the hapless victim of a dolt and a viper, Captain Pascal, and Plon—"

"That's if you don't pry yourself out of this jam."

"I shall, naturally, invoke every power at the disposal of a French citizen—"

"I'll back you to be strollin' up Fifth Avenue, foot-loose before some folks we know find their land-legs."

"You have more faith in me than I have then, my friend. But my plight, as I say, is elementary, no matter how annoying; we know what I am up against. It is not for myself that I must worry, but for that unhappy boy, my son, alone in a strange land and at the mercy of as formidable an organization of criminals!"

"That brings us to one question I wanted to ask you: what can I do to make your mind easy?"

"Look Maurice up, keep an eye on him, counsel and guide him—"

"Trust me."

"How very kind you are!"

"Who, me? Kind? You're grunting. Don't kid yourself. Just interested. Every time I run into you, I feel like a movie fan—just can't wait to see what's goin' to happen next. Next question is: what else can I do for you?"

"You are so generously ready, my friend, you almost make me sorry there is nothing I can ask of you more than you have already promised. Maurice will probably be at the dock to meet me; if by any chance he is not, you will surely find him waiting at the Walpole, where we arranged to rendezvous. Tell him for me, please, I shall get in immediate touch tomorrow morning with the American branch of Delibes, secure the attendance of its legal adviser, and call on the French consul to help bring this imbecile of a Captain to his senses. If Maurice can be of any assistance, that I shall not fail to call on him. In the meantime, he is not to fret on my account. And yet—"

Crane, who had crossed to look through the window-port, turned back. "We'll be in dock inside two minutes," he said. "What else is on your mind, old-timer?"

"I am anxious lest Maurice, left to himself, fall in with Madame Boyce again. She's a dangerous creature, and he vain with the vanity of his age, susceptible to flattery, impressionable. It was you who heard her try to sap his faith in me last night. Tell the boy, then, I will call him up in his rooms at the Walpole tonight, as soon as telephone connections between the ship and the pier switchboard are established. If he has something to wait for—"

"O. K.—I won't forget. If you think of anything you want to say to me, let's have a private number—the place in town I keep to flop in when rush of business prevents my gettin' out to the wife in Larchmont. So long—"

The detective discovered sudden haste—"and don't cut your heart out. A person can't always get that way's best for him. Maybe you're gettin' the breaks after all, only the time ain't come yet for you to know it. It wouldn't surprise me. If it comes to that, I don't imagine there's an awful lot could happen that would surprise me. You get that way's best for him. Maybe Plon wasn't just a pill."

Left alone to ruminate Crane's intelligence through evening hours so dismal, with the vessel at dead rest, the pulsations of its normal life all stilled, that it was possible to figure one's self the only updated tenant of a necropolis,—when, indeed, even the commotion of breaking out cargo, distant calls and whistles and racket of winches, sounded like the cawing of cemetery crows. Lanyard found his mind at the last thing Crane had said on leaving.

Nothing made it memorable, it's true, except that he need not have said it. Nothing in the superficial sense of his observation nothing in the spirit of the moment, accounted for his having dragged Plon back into his remarks by the ears. There must, then, Lanyard argued, have been some ulterior reason, some service calls could not reach him. So had the telephone apparently been throttled—whether or not shore connections had been established, Lanyard had no means of knowing; the ship switchboard thumpings on the locked door to his stateroom won no response, and the guard who marched the deck outside was deaf to hails from the ship. Maurice at the Walpole, but the letters and telegrams he had written bade fair to stand overnight undisturbed. The man was nursing, consequently, the devil's own temper when, without warning, other than the click of a well-oiled lock, the door opened. Plon entered, shut and locked it behind him, and turning, trained on the prisoner his flickering gray smirk.

"Bon soir, monsieur," he mouthed. "If you will forgive the impudence as well as the intrusion, permit me to say it is with deep gratification that I see you in your natural state at last—Monsieur le Loup Solitaire to the life!"

"But 'gratification,' monsieur," Lanyard bitterly replied without rising. "—if one is at all acquainted with your spirit, is a poor name for your emotion."

"I doubt if there is any man alive so ill qualified to claim acquaintance with my spirit. Not that I blame you, monsieur, for that. Plon has tended to add, 'if a man was ever more misled by appearances, I never knew him. Be good enough to believe, monsieur, that you behold in me a friend.'"

Lanyard, having looked the creature up and down, slightly lifted one shoulder and one corner of his mouth.

"As well ask me to believe I behold in you an honest man."

"Ah, no, monsieur," the agent of the Sureté protested. "That I grant you, would be too much. After all, I pretend to be no better than a human being—I have my weaknesses. Consider that I too, I who stand before you, am a thief."

"Indeed? And is one expected, in response to that, to say: 'And in what way, monsieur, a thief?'"

"But it is not a jest that one makes with you; it is a confession. It is even more—it is a boast."

CUSSINS-FEARN SALE IS BEGUN

Advertisement In Today's Herald Explains Bargains Found at Store.

One of the most important retail sales events of the year opened this morning when the Cussins & Fearn Co. started its Good-Will sale. According to this announcement in this newspaper, it is evident that unusual values are offered during this sale. It is understood that the prices on many articles have been radically reduced and that all merchandise during this Good-Will sale will be offered at money-saving prices.

"Our prices have always been very low," said Harold McCord, manager of the local store, "and now during our Good-Will sale they will be lower than ever. I feel that this sale should have a special appeal to our customers because they know that in addition to low prices, they also get quality merchandise. And now during our sale they still get the same quality merchandise at prices which mean even greater savings."

JUDGES OF VALUES
"I have found that the people who trade with us are keen judges of values. I don't believe they came to us in the beginning just because our prices were low, but because they wanted merchandise they could depend upon. Of course, the low prices made the values still greater."

"I am glad to be able to express our appreciation of their trade through the medium of our Good-Will sale. Enabling them to make substantial savings on their purchases is the practical way of telling them what their trade means to us." Judging from the crowds in the vicinity of the Cussins & Fearn store it is evident that Mr. McCord's expectation for a volume business is being realized.

Cussins & Fearn announcement in today's paper gives more details of what may be expected in the sale, what values are being offered, and what savings are available. The announcement was evidently carefully read if the volume of the business transacted during the first day of the sale is any indication. Mr. McCord states that the sale will continue for several days and that he hopes that those who want to take advantage of money-saving prices will pay the store an early visit.

Feeds Rally, Win 7 to 2

Eshelman Feeds, tied for place in the softball league, had a hard fought contest from Purina Chows, Wednesday evening, July 22, after trailing 2 to 0 in the seventh inning. A drop ball permitted the Eshelman to tie the score in this frame. They went on to win in the eighth and ninth.

The score-keeper did not place the score-book into the Herald office there is no box score available. Details concerning the run scoring are also missing.

Eddie Callihan pitched for the winning Eshelman team and Pug Fowler was on the hill for the losers.

There is no game scheduled this evening although the Mecca restaurant outfit, as many players as are available, and the Container Corporation are booked for a practice session.

Friday evening the first place race will be settled at least for the time being with the Eshelman Feeds and the Circleville Oils crossing bats. The game is expected to be a duel between Eddie "Hatcha" Callihan for the Feeds and Carl Purcell for the Oils.

Recreation Congress

NEW YORK—Recreation's part in "the abundance of life," one of President Roosevelt's favorite phrases, will be the main theme of the 20th National Recreation Congress which will be held in Washington, D. C., October 1-5, 1934, under the auspices of the National Recreation Association.

Fished Mammoth Tusk

BELGRADE—A peasant, fishing in the river Sava, near Slavonki Brod, hooked a mammoth's tusk over 5½ feet long and weighing nearly 100 lbs. Experts claim that the tusk is about 20,000 years old. The peasant, Rifad Hadzic, did not attach any importance to the find and gave it to his children to play with.

LEG INJURY YANKS BABE AGAIN

The mighty Bambino is out of the game again with his 700 homer mark scarcely behind him, when Lou Gehrig smashed a ball which bounced off Ruth's leg during a game between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees in Cleveland. Here are shown, top, Dr. Edward Castle examining Babe's right injured shin, bottom, X-ray photo of leg with arrow pointing to the bruised area.

EDWARDS TO HELP FORMED OSU COACH

FOSTORIA, July 19.—Definitely turning his back on offers from Springfield high school, William (Big Bill) Edwards, athletic director of Fostoria high, will coach the freshman football squad at Western Reserve University at Cleveland, he said here.

Edwards will take up his new duties August 1. Besides acting as mentor for the yearlings, Edwards will also be an instructor in Adelbert College there and continue his post-graduate studies.

Appointment of Edwards completed the coaching staff at Western Reserve. Sam Willaman, former Ohio State mentor, is now head coach at the school.

Edwards had three offers this summer, he revealed, one was the Springfield job he decided to turn it down partly because of a fight over the school superintendent's job there. He also was offered a new contract at the local school and the Western Reserve berth.

He is secretary of the Ohio Coaches Association and was an all-Ohio center at Wittenberg, prior to his graduation in 1931.

Since that time, he coached at Washington, Massillon high and was at Ohio State, William's former home, as a freshman line coach. He also won high scholarship awards at Wittenberg.

His team here last year was the best in a number of years. It won eight out of 10 and amassed 193 points to their opponents 57.

In 1932, the Fostoria team had won four games, lost five and tied one.

Edwards leaves his successor here with a wealth of material which he developed. Always building for the future, he has the ideal squad in such a fine shape that Fostoria expects to have the best squad in 10 years next season.

YANKEES LOSE, RUTH INJURED AT CLEVELAND

Whipped 15-14 In Slugfest;
Bambino Struck By Batted Ball; Tigers Gain.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Only a few haven't realized it long before this but the fact is plain today that the New York Yankees are again proving on their current western tour they are just another ball club when they leave the home grounds.

Colorful and dangerous yes, but those Yankees would hardly win the American league pennant if they had to depend on their successes in the hinterlands.

Their current tour through the big bad west gives ample proof of their failings. Including their loss to the Indians at Cleveland yesterday, the New Yorkers have won but three and lost five games since they left home. That is hardly an impressive record for a team ranked as the best in the American league. Their half-game lead has disappeared and now they are two and one-half games back of the Detroit Tigers.

38 BINGLES

However, they waged a desperate battle before bowing before the Indians, 15 to 14 in as hectic a game as has been played this year. The New Yorkers piled up 20 hits off Harder, Winegarner, Weiland, Connally, Lee and Bean. The Indians rolled up 18 safeties off Ruffing, VanAtta, Broaca, Deshong and Gomez.

Saltzgeber and Ruffing hit homers for the Yanks and Earl Averill connected for the victors.

In addition the defeat was costly since Babe Ruth may be lost for several days at least since he suffered a contusion of his right shin bone after being hit by a line drive from Lou Gehrig's bat.

The Detroit Tigers widened their gap over the Yanks defeating the Washington Senators, 4 to 2. Tommy Bridges outpitched Earl Whitehill.

The New York Giants increased their National league lead to three games over the Cubs, winning the fifth and deciding game of their series, 8 to 6. The New Yorkers really clinched the game in the third with a six run spurt during which Mel Ott hit his 22nd homer and Guy Bush was routed from the hill.

Freddy Fitzsimmons was given credit for the victory although he weakened in the later innings and was replaced by Adolpho Luque. It was Fitzsimmons' fifth straight victory and 12th of the season.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

ONE OF THE HOTTEST descriptions of a ball game the janitor has ever heard was given by Tom Manning, Cleveland announcer, over WTAM at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday.—The occasion was the resume of the Cleveland-New York game which the Indians won 15-14.

First Cleveland was ahead then New York took the lead—starting the ninth inning Cleveland led 12-9, the Yankees put on a rally that gave them five runs making the score 14-12 for New York; about that time we were ready to "can" Walter Johnson and his entire pitching staff.

Then the Indian half of the ninth and three more runs, Cleveland winning—Doubles, triples, home runs, bases on balls and everything else occurred. It must have been a crowd pleaser.

Circleville golfers are planning much activity. On July 22, the London team is played on the Madison-co fairways.—All who can possibly go are urged to sign the register at Tink Hill's caddy house.—London will come here later.

The 18-hole qualifying round for the club championship should be played not later than Sunday, July 22, with matches to start on the following Monday.

Appointment of James L. Renick of Columbus as director of Ohio State University's athletic news bureau was announced today by L. W. St. John, athletic director of the university.

The appointment will be effective August 1, Renick, the past four years an Associated Press sports writer in Ohio, formerly was connected with the sports departments of the Springfield News and Sun and the Detroit Free Press.

Rain Improves Harvest

VIENNA—Rainfall has improved the harvest prospects in Austria where a lengthy drought had been experienced in April and May. Nevertheless, this year's cereal crops will be much less than last year's. Wheat will produce a medium crop, but rye, barley and oats are expected to be under the average.

Selling to Russia on credit seems a fine way to hasten recovery if some other fellow must take the chance.

Tennis Star Returns

Helen Jacobs.

Miss Helen Jacobs, No. 1 tennis player among the women netters of the United States, is pictured in New York City upon her arrival from England where she participated in the Wightman cup matches. She was defeated for the singles title by Dorothy Round of England.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The meeting of the Jolly Stitches 4-H clothing club was held July 17 at the Washington-town school. All responded to the roll call by naming a flower.

The meeting adjourned to be held again Aug. 1, 1934.

A seam demonstration was then given—Mary Katherine Bowman, plain seam; Elizabeth Good, flat-pleat seam; Margaret List, French seam.

The remainder of the time was in charge of the recreation leader, Fayette Sayre assisted by her helpers Margaret Good and Fern Richards.

MARY KATHERINE BOWMAN

The Wayne-twp Willing Workers 4-H club meeting was called to order by the president, Ada Belle May. The roll was called and answered by telling what they wanted to do at the next meeting. It was decided to have a picnic and swimming party at Metzger's farm.

Health reports and demonstrations were given: Feet, Joanna Downey; nails and care of hands, Eleanor McAbee; care of hair, Jany Metzger; sitting, standing and walking correctly, Mary Anise Bush, and teeth, Ada Belle May.

Three visitors were present, Elizabeth Downing, Mildred Peters of Jackson and Katherine Laird, of Columbus. Most of the girls were started on their second garment.

After the business meeting the recreation leader, Jany Metzger, was in charge of several games and music.

Refreshments were served by the leader, Annabelle Barch. Reporter, Mary Anise Bush.

BENITA HUME TO RETURN

LONDON.—Following completion of her role in Douglas Fairbanks' film, "Don Juan," Benita Hume, English actress, will return to Hollywood to consider several offers made her by American studios.

Miss Hume was married recently to Jack Dunfee, English theatrical man.

Admiral Christy Returns, Greets Ashville Friends

ASHVILLE, July 19.—About 45 years ago, possibly forgotten by many who were members, Ashville boasted of a local military organization known as the Miller Light Guards sponsored by and named after the late Samuel W. Miller, one of our local merchants and one time auditor of Pickaway-co.

J. W. Shoemaker, who will be remembered as a former marshal of the village, was captain of the company. Among the number of would-be soldiers was a young man who had not yet reached his majority but had been able by reason of advanced education, to secure the appointment of naval cadet at Annapolis.

One night while the company was drilling in Stewart's, now

Plum's hall, the recruit was summoned by telegraph to report at once. Escorted by his comrades the young man marched to the present Norfolk and Western depot and boarded a train for the southland. He graduated from the academy with honors, won married recognition in the Spanish-American war and today is commander of the naval forces at New York harbor.

Monday, for a brief time, the hero of this article, Admiral Harley H. Christy, visited with personal friends here.

The parents of the honored naval official were residents of Ashville for a time where the father, J. W. Christy, was engaged in the furniture business in the room now occupied by D. H. Ebert on Main-st. They later removed to Columbus where they resided for some years and both are now dead.

Admiral Christy will be retired, by reason of age limit, 64, in October of this year.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By BREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

AAA would lead to "a capitalist-producer control which will virtually enslave the workers to the capitalists" and eventually "will lead to a form of Fascism peculiar to America."

Friend of Farley

In the last minute rush of making a dozen excellent appointments, Roosevelt put across one which is coming in for a "lot" of criticism.

The appointee is James A. Moffett, heavy contributor to the campaign, close friend of Roosevelt, even closer to Jim Farley, and an Old Deal Democrat in every way.

He was put in that all-important post—Administrator of the Housing Program.

This is Moffett's second trip to Washington. The first, as a member of the NRA Industrial Advisory Board and later the Petroleum Board, was not a success.

At that time there was a tremendous uproar because Walter C. Teagle, head of Standard Oil of New Jersey, asked Moffett to give up his $100,000 salary as vice president. Democrats accused Teagle, a staunch Republican, of forcing Moffett out because of his New Deal tendencies.

Later it became apparent that Teagle had other reasons. Jimmy was a nice boy, most engaging personality, exuding charm and likeability, a hale-fellow-well-met, but not a big leaguer. His big job with Standard rested, partly at least, it was said, on the fact that his father once headed the company.

Teagle worked with the NRA Labor Board, proved himself more liberal to Labor than labor representatives. Moffett went back to New York.

Merry-Go-Round

The senate actually passed a birth control bill in the hectic closing days of the recent session—but only for a few minutes.

Nevada's paunchy Pat McCarran, out of the chamber when the measure was approved without dissent, rushed back when he heard what had happened, demanded reconsideration.

As opposition to his motion would have forced a record vote, which few Senators wanted to face, the bill was hastily recalled, put back on the shelf.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is having difficulties with its new elaborate building. Owing to labor trouble the structure is still unfinished. The water has not as yet been turned on, and to use a lavatory ICC workers have to cross the street to the old Post Office Department building.

The CCC, through a grant of PWA funds, has enrolled a hundred artists, has them painting scenic canvases out in the woods.

Euchre was enjoyed during the pleasant hours and was in play at two tables. With the awarding of score prizes to Mrs. Lester George and Mrs. James Funk, a guest prize was presented Mrs. Thomerson.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses late in the evening. Guests were Mrs. Thomerson, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. James Funk, Mrs. Miles Bell, Mrs. Lester George and Mrs. George Miller.

Wisconsin Strikers Block Train

Defying a gas attack of deputy sheriffs, strikers at the plant of the Kohler company, Kohler, Wis., are photographed blocking a train in the vicinity of the plant to prevent shipment of cargo. Kohler, regarded as an "ideal village" dedicated to idyllic industrialism, is named after the family of Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin, and owner of the strike-torn plant.

Water Bag Incubator

TURLOCK, Cal. By using a hot water bag as an emergency incubator, Mrs. Ben Scott, of this city, today successfully performed a hatching "operation" on a turkey hen that had been killed by a skunk while conducting a hatching process in her nest. In addition to the successful "operation," Mrs. Scott slew the skunk with a 12-gauge shotgun as it fled with its quarry.

Wire in Cow's Heart

PRESTON, In.—When an examination was made here recently to discover the cause of a cow's death, it was found that a wire, taken into the animal's system, had penetrated the heart and, working with the heart action, had bored a hole an inch and a half in diameter and a quarter of an inch deep in one of the cow's ribs before the animal died.

STOLEN POLICE CAR

MALDEN, Mass.—An auto thief hopped into a cruising car of the Bangor, Me., police department, parked in front of headquarters, drove it 275 miles and left it a wreck against a curbing here. After leaving Bangor, the auto thief traveled through three states and half a dozen large cities without being halted.
